

HARVARD COLLEGE LIBRARY

HARVARD UNIVERSITY LIBRARY
DEC 15 1952

BROWN

ALUMNI MONTHLY

DECEMBER 1952

SENT BY THE UNIVERSITY TO ALL BROWN MEN

BROWN

ALUMNI MONTHLY

Published by Brown University for its Alumni

MEMBER, AMERICAN ALUMNI COUNCIL

Board of Editors

Chairman

C. ARTHUR BRAITSCH '23

Vice-Chairman

GEORGE W. POTTER '21

GARRETT D. BYRNES '26

DWIGHT T. COLLEY '18

CARLETON GOFF '24

PROF. I. J. KAPSTEIN '26

H. LINUS TRAVERS '27

Managing-Editor

CHESLEY WORTHINGTON '23

Assistant Editor

DOUGLAS A. SNOW '45

CONTENTS

News

Brown's New Chancellor	3
From the Gift Register	5
The 1952 Football Season	14

Features

The Structure of Brown	6
The Men Who Serve Us	11
Monument to Bobbyology	17
A Special Report on '52	30
The Senior Film Project	32

Departments

Small Talk	2
Brunonian Headliners	13
Brunonians Far and Near	16
The Brown Clubs Report	33
Bureau of Vital Statistics	34

THE COVER PHOTO: Each year Brown undergraduates entertain Providence children at Christmas parties under BCA auspices. Peter Brogren '54 took this photo a year ago. (Other pictures of campus activity are by the Brown Photographic Laboratory.)

small

TALK

» CHAPEL one week in October was devoted to talks by Professors Robbins, Couch, and Sharon Brown on the new translation of the Bible. This great scholarly undertaking, said Professor Robbins, has not pleased everyone. In fact, he'd heard of one woman who protested: "Why do they have to change it? If the King James Version was good enough for St. Paul, then it's good enough for me."

» He'd been on the Brown campus before, Senator Estes Kefauver told the undergraduates who turned out to hear him in Sayles Hall during the election campaign. It was while he was taking law studies at Yale—"an institution in New Haven"—and he came to Providence to see a football game. Wet, cold, and shy of cash, he went over to the Kappa Sigma quarters (cheers from the Kappa Sigs in the hall) sure that he could get aid and comfort there.

"I'm a brother Kappa Sig," he had said, greeting the first men who greeted him.

"Oh, yeh?" was their answer. (The Kappa Sig delegation did not repeat its cheers.)

» The Senator was introduced by his Rhode Island colleague, John O. Pastore, who told of his visits to Sayles Hall at Commencement time in his former capacity as Governor to bring greetings to the alumni of Brown. "I trust today will be a more profitable occasion," he said.

» Frequently, as Randy Fort of the Emory Alumnus notes, the Alumni Office finds itself in the middle of small and large family problems. Mail sent to one of his alumni in Washington was returned with the notation that he had moved to Buffalo. Forwarded to the Buffalo address, the mail came back again, marked "Unknown." Emory then sent an inquiry to the alumnus at his old address in Washington, eliciting this reply: "Our maid moved to Buffalo, and the postman took it upon himself to forward all our mail to her address for two weeks. Hence the confusion."

Randy Fort is the chap who gave currency to the paraphrase: "Old professors never die. They just grade away."

» The ad in the Classified column of the Brown Daily Herald said simply:

BUCKS DIRTIED

Phil and Bills White Buck Dirtying Service, 210 North Hope. Tel TE 1-9120

» William E. Wilson, who taught in our English Department at one time, is now back in his native Indiana. Recently he was invited to speak before the Lincoln Society in Springfield, Ill., and, after he had accepted, was asked for a title. Since his studies in Lincolniana had been chiefly on the Indiana years, he felt what he had to offer was on "Abe Lincoln in Indiana."

The gentleman from Springfield sounded doubtful over the phone and a bit embarrassed. "You know," he said, "I'm not sure our Illinois audience would be too pleased. We have a great deal of State pride, naturally, and we look on Lincoln as an Illinois man. Don't you suppose you could talk on something else?"

"Well," said Wilson, "we could announce the topic as 'Abe Lincoln on his Way to Illinois.' How would that be?"

"Splendid." So Wilson gave the same lecture under that title to the satisfaction of all and with extra inward amusement for himself.

» Several University buildings were used as polling places in the November elections. That's all the background you need before we say that someone called up on Election Day and asked the Brown switchboard where Rip Van Winkle Hall was.

» One of Penn State's favorite professors was retiring, and the testimonial dinner, was a pretty gloomy affair (according to the Penn State Alumni News) until the guest of honor rose to speak. "I appreciate all these handsome compliments," he said, "and I am happy that they come at a time like this, for, after all, I much prefer taffy to epitaphy." Moreover, they weren't to count him out too soon: "I come from pretty stout and long-lived stock. I might live to be an octogenarian—and even—a nonentity."

» Prof. Charles W. Brown '00 took great delight the other day in showing us a communication he had received from the University. At least, it was an envelope, stencil-addressed, with a single enclosure—a blank sheet of paper. Had we been the flippant sort, we would have told him the anecdote in The Pleasures of Publishing (Columbia University Press) about a librarian who received a sealed but empty envelope from the Government Printing Office. Wondering what it meant, he got an answer from a friend. The latter took a quick look inside and said: "Oh, that's a reprint of an unpublished article."

BUSTER

A DISTINGUISHED TERM of 20 years in office came to an end this fall when Henry D. Sharpe '94, Chancellor of Brown University since 1932, declined election for another term. The Corporation acknowledged his notable service by naming him Chancellor Emeritus, the first time in Brown's history that an individual has been so designated. The Corporation, meeting Oct. 17, elected as his successor Harold B. Tanner '09, a Trustee since 1933 who has been a leader in University affairs and frequently legal counsel for it.

Two Trustees were also elected by the Corporation: W. Easton Louttit '25, of Providence, University Archivist since 1938 who had served a previous seven-year period as Alumni Trustee, and Daniel L. Brown '12, Boston attorney.

Of the office of Chancellor, President Wriston has said: "It is a post of great distinction, honor, and importance in the University government. As Chairman of the Board of Trustees, the Chancellor exercises many of the functions which characterize the Chairman of the Board of business corporations. Traditionally, the office has been filled by men who have given many years of loyal and valuable service. Devoted leadership of this exceptional degree has marked the long tenure of Chancellor Sharpe. The many years of service already contributed by Mr. Tanner make clear the calibre of leadership he will provide in his new office."

Links in the Chain

It was Sharpe who placed Tanner's name in nomination at the Corporation meeting Oct. 17. The latter responded to the vote which followed by saying: "When you invite me to become a link in the chain of distinguished Chancellors, you are doing me a great honor and offering a challenging opportunity for further service to my Alma Mater.

"It is strange to think of the Chancellor as being anybody but Henry Dexter Sharpe. For my own part I shall probably never accept it. For a period of a good many years—above and beyond his duty on many occasions—he has been called to do things and has established a record difficult to follow. It is a fair deduction that each of us was elected to membership on the high principle that he was a person of judgment and personal influence. It is also reasonable to deduce that each accepted an implied trust to exercise those talents for the best interest of Brown and consciously and actively to try to use that talent on the task before us. For my part I shall do my utmost to use every ounce of weight to that end. I need your help for it, as well as the counsel of Chancellor Sharpe."

CHANCELLOR EMERITUS Henry D. Sharpe '94 with the Brown Bear sword he received from the Associated Alumni in 1949.

CHANGE

in the CHANCELLERY

THE NEW CHANCELLOR of Brown University, Harold B. Tonner '09, conferring with President Wriston on the day of the Corporation meeting in October.

The proposal to name Sharpe as Chancellor Emeritus came from Claude R. Branch '07: "There has been no person who has done so much for Brown and the whole community as he. We should keep his name in a prominent place for a long time—and may it be a long time."

Expressing his appreciation, Sharpe called it a signal honor as well as a novel one. "I shall certainly try to perform all the services I can, to continue my service to the University, and to be of such assistance to your new Chancellor as I may be able."

The Forms of Appreciation

The University has cited Sharpe on at least four conspicuous occasions. In 1920, when he received an honorary A.M., he heard President Faunce describe him as: "Leader in industry and lover of books, giving half of life to material production and the other half to the institutions of philanthropy, education, and religion, captain of the new movement to endow and strengthen."

The Susan Colver Rosenberger Medal, awarded by Faculty vote, had been given to only five before him, and it is regarded as Brown's highest accolade. The 1944 citation: "Today you are completing 50 years as an Alumnus of the University, four decades as a Trustee, and 12 years as its Chancellor. In these relationships you have consistently exhibited the temper and qualities of a scholar, the impulses and habits of a philanthropist. With unflagging zeal for the strengthening of this institution, you have been a staunch defender of academic freedom, the most sensitive manifestation of a really free society. Therefore, the Faculty of Brown University confers upon you its most distinguished award for specially notable and beneficial achievement."

Five years later came the Brown Bear Award from the Associated Alumni: "Loyal Alumnus, Trustee, and Chancellor—you have served your Alma Mater with fidelity and wisdom for more than half a century. You have given unsparingly of your energy, your counsel, and your beneficence for the welfare of the University and the enhancement of the whole community. In recognition of a lifetime of true devotion to Brown, your fellow alumni salute you."

When the Sharpe Refectory was dedicated last June, it was noted that "The University and the community have been abundantly enriched by the generosity of a great heart and the wisdom of a luminous mind."

A Citizen Who Serves

The chronicle and the fabric of Brown show innumerable traces of his interest. He was chairman of a building and endowment fund committee appointed in 1925 to fulfill the condition of the gift of the Aldrich brothers, Charles and Henry, who made possible the athletic plant on Elmgrove Ave. Twenty-five years ago he established five fellowships in the Graduate School. Brown's bicentenary tribute to George Washington was a tablet he provided. He was Chairman of the University Council, which in 1936 set up a long-term program to increase Brown's financial resources. He has been President of the Rhode Island Alpha of Phi Beta Kappa. He is Honorary Chairman of the Associated Alumni.

In the community he is known as the "father of the Providence Community Fund," whose first President and first campaign chairman he was. He was an organizer and President of the New England Council, President of the Rhode Island Historical Society, President of the National Metal Trades Association. He has been an officer of Junior Achievement, Inc., Chairman of the Foreign Commerce Advisory Committee of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, Vice-President of the national Community Chests and Councils, and a member of the national Advisory Committee of the American Historical Association, Vice-President of the Providence Journal Company, national Treasurer of the Unitarian Laymen's League, President of the Puritan Life Insurance Co., Chairman of the R. I. Foundation, a national officer of the American Cancer Society, organizer of the Providence Governmental Research Bureau, President of the R. I. Expenditure Council, member of the Board of the National Industrial Conference, Trustee of the R. I. School of Design, and director of numerous local agencies in business, philanthropy, and civic life. The list does not begin to be exhaustive, and does not include his principal life work in industry as President and Treasurer of Brown & Sharpe Mfg. Co. in Providence. He continues as Chairman of its Board, although he resigned from the other duties a few years ago. He has given the Company nearly 60 years of service, having started directly upon his graduation from Brown.

Mrs. Sharpe also received a Brown honorary degree in 1950, and Henry D. Sharpe, Jr., graduated from Brown in 1945.

The 13th Chancellor

Harold B. Tanner, who becomes Brown's 13th Chancellor in 188 years, is senior partner of the Providence law firm of Tillinghast, Collins and Tanner. He received Brown's honorary LL.D. in 1949, with this citation: "More than all else the world needs men of intellect and character, ready to accept heavy responsibilities and discharge them as a public duty, without expectation of reward. The greatest endowment of any university lies not in its invested funds, however large, but in its loyal sons. To the service of Brown you have contributed time, thought, and talent beyond estimation. Your professional career and achievements richly deserve recognition, but today, on your 40th anniversary (of graduation), we choose to emphasize your single-minded devotion to this ancient and beloved University; matched by few, it has been surpassed by none."

Tanner is Moderator of the First Baptist Church in Providence and was chairman of a special committee which sought to make the Meeting House a national shrine. He has been President of the R. I. Bar Association, a member of the R. I. Judicial Council, President of the Greater Providence YMCA, R. I. War Fund Chairman, Trustee of the R. I. School of Design and the YWCA, and member of many commissions in education, the law, and public affairs generally. He was a leader in the Housing and Development program and on many, many committees of the University over the years, including the Advisory and Executive Committee of the Corporation. Ralph C. Tanner '36 and Earl C. Tanner '41 are sons, while the family roster has also included Willard B. Tanner '79, his father, and Kenneth J. Tanner '12 and Herbert D. Tanner '11, brothers.

From the Gift Register

FOR MANY YEARS at the Sayles Hall meeting on Commencement Day, the alumni of Brown used to listen with interest and appreciation to an announcement of gifts to the University during the previous academic year. Such a listing was also carried in our Commencement issue.

Some of our readers have told us they missed this announcement, which has not been made since the abandonment of the Sayles Hall meeting. As an experiment, we are printing herewith some excerpts from the Gift Register of Brown University for the months of July, August, and September, 1952. During that period Brown received $109,660.56 in gifts.

Gifts for Current Expenditure

Unrestricted

Brown Alumni Fund (Interim total)	$24,483.13
Brown Alumnae Fund of Pembroke College	536.65

Student Aid

Brown Club of Hartford Scholarship	200.00
Brown Club of Eastern Michigan Scholarship	250.00
Brown Club of Western Pennsylvania Scholarship	50.00
Connecticut Valley Brown Club Scholarship	200.00
Earl R. Davis (Grant-in-Aid)	25.00
Medard W. Welch (Scholarship)	800.00
Mr. and Mrs. Alan J. Young '10 (Scholarship)	400.00
Mrs. Max R. Zisson, Pembroke '30 (Scholarship)	345.00
The Arnold Foundation (Grant-in-Aid)	1,000.00
William T. Gossett (Scholarship)	2,000.00

Research Projects and Fellowships

American Cancer Society (Biology Grant)	$ 3,783.96
Bell Telephone Laboratories Fellowship	1,500.00
Carnegie Corporation of New York (American Civilization Program Grant)	7,300.00
Committee for Economic Development (College-Community Research Center Grant)	2,500.00
Dow Chemical Company Fellowship	1,500.00
E. I. duPont de Nemours Company Fellowship	3,250.00
Eli Lilly and Company Fellowship	4,040.00
Rhode Island Cancer Society (Biology Grant)	3,000.00
U. S. Public Health Service (Biology Grant)	11,925.00

Libraries

Associates of the John Carter Brown Library	708.03
Estate of Walter B. Knight '70	53.11
Friends of the John Hay Library	51.67

Other Purposes

Anonymous (General)	71.54
Friends of the Brown Alumni Monthly	73.50
Friends of the Brown Christian Association	383.00
Mrs. Sidney R. Bellows (Pembroke Campus)	50.00
Woods Hole Oceanographic Institution (Visiting Professor)	500.00

Gifts to Endowment

Unrestricted

Estate of Joseph J. McCaffrey '99	60.41
Estate of Max Zinn	100.00

Student Aid

Joseph Freedman '26 (Scholarship)	6,198.04
Louitt Charitable Foundation (Scholarship)	250.00
Mrs. Sidney R. Bellows, Pembroke '06 (Scholarship)	50.00
Mrs. Murray S. Danforth, Pembroke '13 (Scholarship)	100.00
Pembroke Class of 1927 (Scholarship)	100.00
Philip A. Roth (Scholarship)	300.00
Richard F. Hopkins '35 (Scholarship)	6,500.00
Sidney Wilmot '09 (Scholarship)	300.00
The Stuart Foundation, Inc. (Student Loans)	500.00

Other Purposes

Walter Buschmann '53 (Scholarship Repayment)	1,651.33
Alumni and Friends of the Graduate School (Scholarship)	102.00
Anonymous (Prizes)	1,800.00
H. Hadley Thurlow '07 (Endowment of Alumni Fund)	500.00
Lydia Atherton Hunt (Endowment of Alumni Fund)	50.00

Gifts for Buildings and Grounds

Payments on Housing and Development Pledges	19,661.61
Mrs. Frank B. Littlefield, Pembroke '22, in memory of Dr. Frank B. Littlefield '22 (Sigma Nu)	100.00
	<hr/>
	$109,302.98
Various gifts under $25.00	357.58
	<hr/>
Total	$109,660.56

THE GOVERNMENTAL STRUCTURE of Brown University is unique, different from any other in all the world. Yet its individualism, characteristic of Rhode Island, has been so tempered by time that the University functions effectively in the modern world.

Brown's Charter was enacted as a law of the Colony and remains as a statute of the State. It is our fixed star; we can do nothing that contradicts its prohibitions or transgresses its grants of power. It has both the advantages and the disadvantages of age. On the one hand, there is the great prestige that comes with long survival; that is an asset of incalculable value. Moreover, some of the rights and privileges granted in 1764 do not appear in modern charters; they are a priceless inheritance. On the other hand, there are inevitable archaisms which occasionally prove embarrassing. It should not be surprising that the Charter, fashioned so long ago, has shortcomings as a working instrument. It is remarkable that it can operate at all in an environment so radically altered.

A History-Making Document

The chief source of its vitality is that in establishing an educational institution our forefathers dared very boldly. They had pettinesses, even as their modern successors, for they were human. But when they embodied their thoughts and their plans in that fundamental Charter, they curbed their differences and made a concerted effort to achieve something distinctive. It contains no weak or timorous word; no great issue is dodged. With intrepidity and confidence they put freedom at the core of the new enterprise. For that reason the Charter of Brown University made history in the field of education, in social relations, in religious toleration, and in the cultural life of this community, this commonwealth, this nation, and, indeed, the world.

The Charter recognizes five elements in our immediate constituency: the Corporation, the President, the Faculty, the Students, and the Alumni.

The Corporation is bicameral, being composed of a Board of Trustees and a Board of Fellows. Its meetings are extraordinary, absolutely without parallel. The two bodies assemble separately in the same room at the same time, the Trustees under the chairmanship of the Chancellor, the Fellows with the President as chairman. They follow the same agenda and have a joint Secretary. Each body votes separately, but every motion requires concurrent action. Half the number of Fellows present—which, with a bare quorum, might be only three persons—could block the proceedings of the whole Corporation. The checks and balances characteristic of 18th century constitutionalism appear in their strongest form, for there is no provision against deadlock. The procedure constitutes an extraordinary precaution against hasty or drastic action.

The Share in the Management

The Charter aimed to keep the emphasis steadily upon the intellectual, rather than the operational, functions of the University. To that end control of the business affairs of the institution was not assigned to the Trustees alone; they were required to share the management of those activities with the Board of Fellows. Consequently the Trustees never meet except when the Fellows are also in session. Thus the general management of the business of the University is the joint responsibility of Trustees and Fellows acting together. Because of this fact, the committees of the Corporation are usually joint committees. The Advisory and Executive Committee and most others which act between meetings of the Corporation are so constituted. In voting upon the work of committees, the two Boards act separately, and they must

LAST WINTER, during a lively discussion by the Advisory Council of the Associated Alumni, the statement was made that Brown men do not understand the structure of the University, the function of each element in it, and the responsibilities of each. This magazine was asked to prepare an informative article which would assist in a full understanding of the subject. At our request, President Wriston has revised an exposition he made six or seven years ago. It should be required reading for anyone with the interests of the University at heart; it will, incidentally, prove good reading, too.

THE STRUCTURE OF BROWN

By HENRY M. WRISTON

concur in order to adopt recommendations or to ratify committee action.

The Board of Fellows, however, possesses separate and distinctive powers in addition to those shared with the Trustees. The Charter specifically delegated to the Fellows, who were called the "Learned Faculty," control of "the instruction and immediate government of the College." They, therefore, can and do meet separately when discharging their functions of approving curricula, establishing degree requirements, and voting degrees. The design was to guarantee intellectual independence by committing the educational process wholly to the hands of a group who were to reflect the cultural and scholarly character of the University. In no other American institution was the primary intellectual emphasis more clearly defined or so carefully protected.

Any description of the operation of the Corporation is likely to leave a sense of confusion. Experience alone reveals how well the governing bodies function. In 1930 a distinguished group of educators made a survey of the University; they professed bewilderment after they had read and discussed the Charter; but, when they applied the test of history, they concluded that "somehow it worked . . . machinery and coordinate boards giving the appearance of cumbersomeness and occasions for friction and delay did work."

I confess that after my first meeting with the Corporation

THE STUDENTS (right): "They have a freedom of opinion and action which runs well beyond ordinary collegiate practice." →

I did not understand how a body so organized could ever reach a responsible decision upon a matter of great difficulty. Experience has shown that it can. The amendment of the Charter in 1942 illustrated the point. The question was old; it had been discussed recurrently for half a century. Compromise and partial solutions had been given fair trial and had not proved satisfactory. Summoning its powers of decision, the Corporation met the issue deliberately but firmly, discharging its vital function at the highest level of responsibility. The votes had to be taken not once but twice, with several months intervening for observation, reflection, and debate. At the end the dissenting minority was very small, and the decision left no bitterness. The wisdom of the action is attested by the speed with which the result was accepted by the entire constituency.

More recently the Corporation has faced another basic problem—student housing. Again the issue was old; many expedients had been tried, yet the situation remained unsatisfactory. Following careful preparatory work by their subsidiary body, the Advisory and Executive Committee, the Trustees and Fellows reached important decisions upon fundamental policy and program, with steadfastness and calm.

The Reason the System Can Work

What is the secret of the successful operation of a complicated organization that so baffles and confuses observers? The answer is really very simple indeed. It works as long as both Trustees and Fellows center their attention upon the interests of the University instead of quarrelling about their respective prerogatives. Mutual cooperation makes a seemingly cumbrous instrument function with smoothness and even flexibility. Indeed, it would be difficult to find a university governing body that discharges its high responsibility with equal effectiveness. There have been mistakes, of course. To impatient reformers decision sometimes seems to move on leaden feet. In the long perspective of Brown's history, however, the record of the Corporation is notably good.

The second element in the structure of the University, recognized by the Charter, is the President. Reference to the office is brief indeed: "It is constituted that the instruction and immediate government of the College shall forever be and rest in the President and Fellows." His election is provided for, he is made a member of the Fellows and their presiding officer, but beyond those brief references to the office his powers are left to delegations of authority and to practice under the Charter. Historically the powers of the President have varied from something approaching dominance almost to insignificance. His influence has been conditioned by the climate of opinion in which he moved, by the temper of the Corporation, the Faculty, and the Alumni. It will surprise many that these factors have proved more important than the personality of the President. Two of Brown's most vigorous leaders—Wayland and Andrews—ended their labors for the University in frustration.

The President is expected to be an educator, to have been at some time a scholar, to have judgment about finance, to know something of construction, maintenance, and labor policy, to speak virtually continuously in words that charm and never offend, to take bold positions with which no one will disagree, to consult everyone and follow all proffered advice, and do everything through committees, but with great speed and without error.

Powers Undefined; Obligations Specific

The third element in the structure of the University is the Faculty. No powers are delegated to the Faculty by the Charter, though it provides for the appointment of personnel. If powers are undefined, obligations are specific. The Faculty must give youth of all religious denominations "a like, fair, generous, and equal treatment." In their teachings the Faculty are required to "respect the sciences," and not to make "sectarian differences of opinions . . . any part of the public and classical instruction."

If the Board of Fellows insisted upon exercising its full prerogative that "the instruction and immediate government of the College shall forever be and rest in the President and Fellows," the Faculty would have no corporate function at all. But over the years sound practical sense has led to such formal and informal delegations of authority, to such realistic and sensible interpretations, that in practice the Brown Faculty exercise an initiative and control of curriculum, discipline, and educational policy similar to that exercised in institutions whose charters read wholly differently. The Board of Fellows, nonetheless, continues to take a lively interest in educational matters. At a recent meeting, for example, after the degrees had been voted, a couple of hours were spent in discussion of the make-up of the present Faculty and plans for maintaining and enhancing its strength.

No tension exists between the Fellows who possess the authority and the Faculty who exercise the power because both concentrate upon the great issues and relegate the lesser to insignificance. It is a reminder that constitutions can be interpreted in action as long as there is sound perspective upon the task at hand.

The Charter refers to the Students only in the passive voice, as it were. Their religious preferences are protected, their morals are set down as a primary concern, but they are definitely to be governed. There is no hint in the Charter that any duties or powers shall be conferred upon them. Yet, anyone familiar with the American college world might live upon this campus for years without detecting in practice any less self-government, any less participation in the activities of the University than would be found in an institution where, by charter or by statute, the Students were assigned formal powers. On the contrary, they have a varied and interesting life, a freedom of opinion and action which runs well beyond ordinary collegiate practice.

The Zone of Alumni Responsibility

What are the Charter provisions regarding the Alumni? Mention is brief, being only by inference, in the preamble. The reference occurs in the frequently quoted phrase, "institutions for liberal education are highly beneficial to society by . . . preserving in the community a succession of men duly qualified for discharging the offices of life with usefulness and reputation." The Charter thus refers to the activities of graduates in the community but assigns them no powers, duties, rights, or responsibilities in the conduct of the University itself. The Alumni were expected to be the ambassadors of the institution in the world at large.

So indeed they are. Brown University is judged in the scholarly world by its Students who enter graduate and professional schools, by the work of its Alumni as teachers and administrators. It is judged in the community by the "usefulness and reputation" of its graduates in their daily tasks and their civic activities. Their good repute is a solid and continuous asset.

Despite the silence of the Charter, however, precedent and practice have developed a wide zone of responsible activity within the institution. This was a historical necessity. If the benefits promised in the preamble were genuine, it was inevitable that those graduates who discharged "the offices of life" with distinction in the community would, as a corollary to that attainment, be called to the responsibility of supporting the institution which had contributed to their own position. When the University had nurtured men of character and distinction in sufficient number, they would naturally be chosen to take their places in the Corporation.

THE ADVISORY AND EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE ac's between meetings of the Corporation. The following members posed for a picture before attending the October meeting: Front row, left to right—Arthur B. Homer '17, Chancellor (now Chancellor Emeritus) Henry D. Sharpe '94, President Wriston, Harold B. Tanner '09 (now Chancellor), Treasurer Gordon L.

Parker '18. Rear row—Vice Presidents Bruce M. Bigelow '24 and F. Morris Cochran, Sidney Clifford '15, Roger T. Clapp '19, Donald Millar '19, the Rev. Dr. Albert C. Thomas '08, Dr. W. Russell Burwell '15. (Others arrived after the photo was taken. See page 12 for the full personnel of this and other standing committees.)

Who Controls the Corporation?

Practically, Alumni control the Corporation. Of the Fellows, 12 in number, all but two are Alumni. One of the two is the President who, by almost universal custom, is appointed without reference to his previous collegiate affiliation. The reason is clear: in a country where education has no national controls, where each institution is under the jurisdiction of its separate board, the only means of attaining coordination and harmony among the myriad institutions is by the free interchange of professional personnel, instructional and administrative. The over-all success of this principle in the United States is obvious. The other non-alumnus is a direct descendant of one of the founders and a member of the family from whom this institution derives its name. There is, consequently, a personal intimacy with the history and destiny of the University which gives him a relationship somewhat different from that of an alumnus, but no less significant.

In the Board of Trustees the dominance of the Alumni is even more overwhelming, all but three of the 42 members being Brown graduates. The first of these three represented the Quaker interest as was provided in the Charter at the time of his election. The second is a member of a family long associated with this University; in fact, one of the houses in the new Quadrangle carries the name. The third is the holder of an honorary degree from Brown, and his son was an alumnus. Each is a long-time resident of Rhode Island with a deep concern for the welfare of the University.

"A SUCCESSION OF MEN duly qualified. . . ." "The reality of Alumni power is apparent in all its substance and verity."

Moreover, the interests of the Alumni as an organized group have been given explicit recognition. Graduates (and many other Alumni) have the privilege of nominating (virtually electing) one third of the members of the Board of Trustees. Everything has been done to facilitate complete independence of choice, to provide the most convenient arrangements for such nominations, and generally to make the representation as effective as possible. The procedures are embodied in an agreement which leaves them wholly in the hands of the Associated Alumni up to the moment of formal election. A list of candidates is prepared by the Executive Committee of the Associated Alumni, after full opportunity is given regional Brown Clubs to make suggestions. The slate is determined at the Advisory Council meeting, and the nominees are then voted upon by nearly the whole Alumni body. The two persons thus chosen are formally elected by the Corporation, 90% of the members of which are Alumni. As provided by the agreement, Alumni Trustees resign at the end of seven years and are not immediately eligible for reelection. In this manner their mandate from the Alumni body is kept fresh, but their terms are long enough to let them gain experience in the work of the Corporation and play an effective role in its functioning.

By historical processes the Alumni, for whose participation in the governance of the University the Charter made no provision, now dominate it. The Corporation, indeed, is a fair cross section of those who, after initial guidance by the University, have achieved "usefulness and reputation" in the world at large.

The Evidence of Alumni Devotion

Alumni loyalty, translated into official responsibility, produces amazing manifestations of self-sacrificing devotion. We had recently, for example, the full-time services during 12 years of a Treasurer who accepted no remuneration but brought to his duties industry, wisdom, and skill beyond praise. Week after week the Investment Committee wrestles with our basic financial problems. The Advisory and Executive Committee at its monthly meetings and its members in between times give scrupulous attention to the detailed business of the University. The Board of Fellows not only meets its formal obligations but evinces a lively interest in everything that affects the integrity of our intellectual life. Special committees spend time, thought, and energy upon the solution of particular problems. The semi-annual over-all review by the full Corporation is an effective instrument for coordinating the varied activities having to do with the management of Brown's affairs.

Membership in the Corporation is only one means by which the Alumni directly influence the course of the University. The Associated Alumni are a completely autonomous body with powerful influence and great responsibilities. The Executive Committee of that body and its Advisory Council affect policy at many points and help shape our course. The Alumni Monthly is published by the University and sent free to all Alumni; it is wholly controlled, however, by a Board of Editors appointed by the Associated Alumni; it is, therefore, an organ of opinion and promotion under Alumni direction. The Alumni Fund Trustees establish their own procedures and conduct their own campaign. The Athletic Advisory Council virtually determines the athletic program. To all these activities, and to those of the many regional Brown Clubs, large numbers of Alumni give loyal and valued service.

The reality of Alumni power is apparent in all its substance and verity. The processes exist by which it may be channeled into fullest effectiveness. It is one of the primary functions of the Associated Alumni to be certain that these procedures are understood by all graduates. As each alumnus clearly pictures his relation to the College and accepts its implied obligations, he takes his place as an active and vital member of the organization of the University, formally and informally contributing to the determination and execution of policies.

In summary, if one examines what actually transpires, it is evident that, despite the brief and oblique reference in the Charter, there is a larger substantive control of this University by its own Alumni than in any but a very small group of institutions in the entire country. In no institution is it greater.

Keeping the Goal in Perspective

Such is the structure of Brown University. Without violating the fundamental law by which we are governed, practical expedients have opened the way for the Faculty, the Students, and the Alumni to play roles quite unforeseen in 1764. Because so much of this structure rests upon tradition and experience, it is dependent upon mutual respect and forbearance. Lacking active cooperation the whole fabric would disintegrate.

The balance between the several elements is maintained by absorption in the fundamental educational purposes of the institution. Success is utterly conditioned by maintenance of those essential aims in right perspective. Friction with regard to prerogative would instantly upset that balance. If the Board of Fellows were selfishly to exercise its full powers, the Faculty would be helpless. If the Faculty were to insist upon the full letter of their delegated authority, the Student body could be deprived of all independence. If the Corporation were jealously to protect its formal rights, the Alumni body could be without influence.

Similarly, if the Alumni in any of their organizations were to make an issue of their recognition rather than exploiting the great powers and privileges which they possess, there could be no effective cooperation. A separatist spirit, by which any one element were set against, or even apart from, other elements of the constituency, would result in evil. Kipling summed up the way to disaster when he denounced the pretentious "brave new world," "where all men insist on their merits, and no one desists from his sins." It is essential to the welfare of our University for all men to insist on its merits, and for each to desist from his sins.

A Look Toward the Future

With the end of the war, Brown addressed itself to great problems which had been overlaid by preoccupation with immediately pressing concerns. It was said then that if they were attacked with boldness and courage, with wisdom and energy, with everyone doing his best, they could be met. If all cooperated vigorously, there would be an opportunity for this University to seize a position of leadership in education such as it never had before. The validity of that challenge was shown in the success of the program for student housing. Already the Quadrangle has become an educational asset; the evidence is even more apparent with the current college year.

Other urgent undertakings remain. War's inflation, which accelerated with passing time, necessitates large increases in resources just to maintain our position; yet more will be needed if we are to move ahead. We must set about raising that money promptly; thus the Alumni Fund assumes a new importance. Student recruitment and selection can be doubly successful with the aid of a loyal and enthusiastic Alumni body. The Faculty needs strengthening; retaining our distinguished scholars and teachers, replacing those who retire, and attracting others depend upon faith that Brown has a great future. Once that faith falters, an institution becomes a happy hunting ground for other universities in search of talent. A united constituency is essential to the fullest measure of faith in the future of the University.

We are the inheritors of a grand tradition. Our Alumni roll is star-studded with great names. We have a strategic position and notable assets. There lie before us opportunities exceeding any we have known in the past. The Greeks had a word for our present need—"enthusiasm." It is one of the most picturesque of all words borrowed from antiquity. It means "filled with a god." Godlike men have powers beyond the human, endurance beyond the mortal, energy beyond their own. The founders of Brown University exhibited those traits. The magnitude of our modern task demands the same qualities. We should cherish our great past as a source of inspiration, and then summon fresh courage and renewed energy to attain new goals.

These Men and Their Responsibility

THE READER of President Wriston's article on "The Structure of Brown University" may also wish to scan the roster of Corporation members and other official groups active in the conduct of Brown affairs. The following listing includes elections and appointments at the October meeting of the Corporation:

The Corporation

Officers: President—Henry Merritt Wriston; Chancellor—Harold Brooks Tanner '09; Secretary—Fred Bartlett Perkins '19; Treasurer—Gordon Lancaster Parker '18; Chancellor Emeritus—Henry Dexter Sharpe '94, all of Providence.

Board of Fellows: President Wriston; Theodore Francis Green '87, Providence and Washington; Waldo Gifford Leland '00, Washington; John Nicholas Brown, Providence; Warren Randolph Burgess '12, New York; John Henry Williams '12, Cambridge, Mass., and New York; Secretary Perkins; Claude Raymond Branch '07, Providence and Boston; Albert Clark Thomas '08, Providence; Arthur Worthington Packard '25, New York; William Russell Burwell '15, Cleveland; Zechariah Chafee, Jr., '07, Cambridge, Mass.

Board of Trustees: Chancellor Emeritus Sharpe; Edwin Farnham Greene '01, New York; Joseph Chandler Robbins '97, New Haven; Chancellor Tanner; Lester Ralston Thomas, Providence;

John Christopher Mahoney '05, Providence; Allyn Larrabee Brown '05, Norwich, Conn.; Walter Hoving '20, New York; Robert Hale Ives Goddard, Providence; William Davis Miller '09, Wakefield, R. I.; William Earl Sprackling '12, New York; Eugene William O'Brien '19, Atlanta; John George Peterson '17, Minneapolis; Roger Tillinghast Clapp '19, Providence; George Tucker Metcalf '13, Providence; Moses Leverock Crossley '09, Plainfield, N. J.; James Lindley Palmer '19, Chicago; Donald Gordon Millar '19, New York and Greenfield, Mass.; Thomas John Watson, Jr., '37; Hermon Carey Bumpus, Jr., '12, Duxbury, Mass.; Harold Stanton Smith '21, Providence; Maxwell Barus '10, New York; Sidney Clifford '15, Providence; Anna Canada Swain '11, Craigville, Mass.; Samuel Watson Smith '19, Tucson, Ariz.; Treasurer Parker; Samuel Temkin '19, Providence; Edgar John Lownes, Jr., '23, Providence; Hugh Stanford McLeod '16, Providence; Rowland Roberts Hughes '17, New York; Norman Stanley Case '08, Washington; Duncan Norton-Taylor '26, New York; Arthur Bartlett Homer '17, Bethlehem, Pa.; Donald Sturges Babcock '10, Providence; Charles Douglas Mercer '06, New York and Brookline, Mass.; Louis Cardell Gerry, hon. '47, Providence; Thomas Francis Black, Jr., '19, Providence; Virginia Piggott Verney '28, Dedham, Mass.; Frederick Allan Ballou, Jr., '16, Providence; William Allan Dyer, Jr., '24, Indianapolis; William Easton Louttit, Jr., '25, Providence; Daniel Lucius Brown '12, Boston.

Standing Committees of the Corporation

Advisory and Executive Committee: President Wriston, Chairman, ex officio; Messrs. Sharpe, Parker, Homer, Louttit, Tanner, Perkins, Burwell, Hughes, Albert Thomas, John Nicholas Brown, Millar, and Bumpus; Vice-President F. Morris Cochran serves as Secretary of the A & E Committee.

Athletic Advisory Council: President Wriston, ex officio, Vice-President Cochran, Dean Barnaby Keeney. Corporation—Smith, McLeod, Branch. Faculty (elected by the Faculty)—Harold R. Nace, Edward R. Durgin, David A. Jonah. Alumni (elected by Alumni)—Chairman J. Richmond Fales '10, Kenneth D. Clapp '40, William J. Gilbane '33.

Audit Committee: Hughes, Chairman, Palmer, Case.

Brown Christian Association Board: Dean Keeney, ex officio, John A. Anderson '11, Knight Edwards '45, Edward S. Spicer '10, Robert Manley '53, Prof. Guy H. Dodge, Chairman Thomas and Mercer.

Brown Outing Reservation Advisory Board: Dean Keeney, ex officio, Ward A. Davenport, Superintendent of Buildings and Grounds, Chairman Emery M. Porter '06, Nelson B. Jones '28, Prof. Nace, Roland C. Clement '49, Roger T. Clapp '19, George F. Troy, Jr., '31.

Commencement Committee: President Wriston, ex officio, Perkins, Dwight T. Colley '18, Doris H. Stapelton '28, Roger T. Clapp '19, Temkin, Norton-Taylor, Provost Samuel T. Arnold '13, Chairman, Vice-President Bruce M. Bigelow '24, Dean Durgin, Dean Nancy Duke Lewis, Dean Keeney, Prof. Herbert N. Couch, W. Chesley Worthington '23, William B. McCormick '23, Gertrude Allen McConnell '10.

Committee on Comprehensive Planning and Development of University Property: President Wriston, ex officio, Goddard, Sharpe, Homer, Millar, Chairman Louttit, and Gerry.

Committee for Consultation between the Advisory and Executive Committee and the Associated Alumni: Vice-President Bigelow, ex officio, and Hughes.

Committee for Consultation between the Corporation and the Faculty: Corporation—Barus, Lownes, Williams. Faculty (elected by the Faculty)—Sinclair W. Armstrong, Harold Schlosberg, Merton P. Stoltz.

Faunce House Advisory Board: Dean Keeney, ex officio, George Bray '53, Samuel Bernstein '53, Stuart C. Sherman '39, Prof. Otto van Koppenhagen, Chairman, Metcalf, William T. Brightman '21.

Investment Committee: President Wriston and Treasurer Parker, ex officio, Gerry, Chairman Sharpe, Goddard, Babcock. (Vice-President Cochran serves as Secretary.)

Lectureships Committee: Provost Arnold, ex officio, Sharpe, Prof. Donald H. Fleming, John Nicholas Brown, Prof. Lawrence C. Wroth, Prof. W. Freeman Twaddell, Prof. Charles A. Robinson, Jr., Prof. Randall Stewart, Prof. Charles H. Smiley, Chairman.

Libraries: Annmary Brown Memorial Committee of Management—President Wriston, Chairman, ex officio, Frederick R. Goff '37, Prof. Wroth, Albert E. Lownes '20, Prof. Jonah. John Carter Brown Committee on Management—President Wriston, Chairman, ex officio, John Nicholas Brown, Clarence S. Brigham '99, Sharpe, and Millar. University Library Committee—President Wriston, Chairman ex officio; Librarian Jonah, ex officio; Albert C. Thomas, Millar, L. Ralston Thomas, Smith, Mrs. Swain, and Mrs. Verney of the Corporation; Prof. Donald F. Hornig, Prof. Twaddell, and Prof. Richard A. Parker of the Faculty.

Nautical Advisory Board: Dean Keeney, ex officio, Superintendent Davenport, Prof. Zenas R. Bliss '18, Chairman, Frederic E. Cole '46, E. John Lownes, Jr., '23, Richmond H. Sweet '25, John E. C. Hall '27, Benjamin S. Tully '28.

Pembroke College Advisory Committee: President Wriston, Chairman, ex officio; Dean Lewis, Secretary, ex officio; Mrs. Stapelton, ex officio; Mrs. Swain, Prof. Sharon Brown '15, Roger T. Clapp '19, Prof. Twaddell; Alumnae, nominated by the Alumnae: Mrs. John W. Spaeth, Jr., '30, Miss Esther C. Cook '16, Mrs. Morris H. Brown '18, and Miss Marguerite L. Melville '34.

Committee on Standing Committee Vacancies: Millar, Chairman, Clifford, Burgess.

Trustee Vacancies Committee: President Wriston, Chairman, ex officio; Chancellor Tanner, Secretary, ex officio; Bumpus, Barus, Clifford.

On the Administrative Board of the Rhode Island Hospital School of Nursing, the Brown representatives are Dean Lewis, ex officio, and Prof. J. Walter Wilson '18. On the Board of Trustees of the Rhode Island School of Design, the Brown representatives are Prof. George E. Downing and Provost Arnold, serving for Robert W. Kenny '25.

The Associated Alumni

Officers: Honorary Chairmen—Henry D. Sharpe '94, President Wriston. President—Dwight T. Colley '18, Philadelphia; Treasurer—Richmond H. Sweet '25, Providence; Secretary—William B. McCormick '23, Providence; President-Elect—Elmer S. Horton '10, Barrington. Regional Vice-Presidents—Robert D. Allison '29, Hartford (New England); Foster B. Davis, Jr., '39, Providence (Rhode Island); Stephen A. McClellan '23, Syosset, N. Y. (North Atlantic-Midland); Alden R. Walls '31, Atlanta (South Atlantic-Midland); Warren J. Smith, Jr., '32, Chicago (North Central); Edwin J. Schermerhorn '34, Tulsa (South Central); Hugh H. Wallace '37, Pasadena (Western).

Regional Directors: New England—Arthur H. Crosbie '39, Boston; Cyrus G. Flanders '18, Hartford. Rhode Island—Francis J. O'Brien '16, Knight Edwards '45, both Providence. North Atlantic-Midland—Myron Sulzberger, Jr., '26, New York; Robert B. Clark '39, Pittsburgh. South Atlantic-Midland—Philip C. Martin '50, Richmond, Va.; Earl W. Milligan '23, Asheville, N. C. North Central—Norman Pierce '33, Chicago; Roger D. Williams '47, Cincinnati. South Central—Morris L. Pepper '27, Houston; George F. Johnston '16, Wichita. Western—Gen. Francis W. Rollins '16, San Fernando, Calif.; Alfred T. Marshall '42, Los Angeles.

Directors-at-Large: Paul P. Johnson '29, Providence; Edwin M. Murphy '19, Boston; Frederick H. Rohlf's '26, New York; Frank A. Russo '26, West Hempstead, N. Y.; Charles E. Williams '38, New Haven; M. Norman Zalkind '35, Fall River; Nathaniel B. Chase '23, Providence; F. Hartwell Swaffield '37, Boston; Marvin Bower '25, New York; John S. Chaffee '18, Hartford; Alan P. Cusick '32, Taunton; Russell W. Field, Jr., '40, Providence.

Other Directors: Alumni Trustees—E. John Lownes, Jr., '23, George T. Metcalf '13, both Providence; Duncan Norton-Taylor '26, New York. Association of Class Secretaries—Walter Adler '18, Ivory Littlefield, Jr., '46, both Providence. Faculty—Arlan R. Coolidge '24. Brown Alumni Monthly—Douglas A. Snow '45.

Brown Alumni Fund Trustees (1951-1952): Chairman Thomas F. Black, Jr., '19, Providence; Cooley; Knight Edwards '45, Providence; Sayles Gorham '22, Providence; William R. Hulbert, Jr., '37, Boston; Alfred H. MacGillivray '39, Providence; Donald G. Millar '19, New York; William R. Potter '42, Providence; H. Eliot Rice '41, Providence; Stanley H. Smith '28, Providence; Sweet; Edwin H. Tuller '35, Hartford; H. F. C. Wilcox '18, Providence; Samuel Temkin '19, Providence; Watson Smith '19, Tucson; Martin L. Tarpay '37, Pawtucket; Richard Thorndike '23, Providence. (The 1952-53 organization has not been completed.)

The roster of the Board of Editors of the Brown Alumni Monthly, the Association of Class Secretaries, and Brown Club Secretaries appears elsewhere in this issue (page 2 and back cover). The Executive Committee of the Board of Directors and other alumni committees were not fully constituted when this issue went to press.

Brunonian Headliners

JUDGE PERKINS

On the Superior Bench

HUNDREDS of recent Brown graduates will recall the name of Fred B. Perkins '19 on their diplomas. He is Secretary of the University Corporation. As Associate Justice of the Superior Court, he is also Rhode Island's newest Judge and the most recent addition to a long list of Brunonians who have served the citizens of the State on its bench.

Last year, when a vacancy arose in the Superior Court, the lawyers of Rhode Island voted Perkins as the best qualified person to fill it. Governor Roberts acted upon this strong endorsement in giving him an interim appointment. The confirmation of the State Senate will be necessary when the General Assembly convenes this winter.

Two hundred friends were present in the courtroom when Presiding Justice G. Frederick Frost '96 conducted the ceremony of reading the judicial oath. The new judge donned the robes formerly worn by the late Justice John S. Murdock '96.

Perkins was formerly U. S. Assistant District Attorney, Chairman of the Public Utilities Hearing Board, and President and Secretary of the Bar Association. He was for many years Chairman of the Board of Bar Examiners, in addition to holding other posts of church, civic and professional responsibility. He is the Secretary of the Class of 1919.

Brown and Louttit Named

THE BROWN UNIVERSITY CORPORATION added two names to its roster in October by the election of W. Easton Louttit '25 of Providence, who had previously served seven years as Alumni Trustee, and Daniel L. Brown '12, lawyer who was last year President of the Boston Brown Club.

Louttit has been University Archivist since 1938. A student of Brown's history, he gave to the Library a decade ago a large number of items—100 or more—about the University and its graduates during its first century. He is an authority on John Hay, 1858, and his collection of Hay items ranks with the best. An executive and partner in several laundry businesses in Providence and Springfield, he serves on the boards of the Industrial Trust Co. and the Title Guarantee Co. He is a member of the Executive Committee of the Providence Public Library and the Roger Williams General Hospital. He has been a Trustee of the Providence Country Day School and the R. I. Infantile Paralysis Foundation. A former resident of Cranston, he served on its Community Fund and City Plan Commission. He now lives in West Greenwich, where he has been actively interested in public education.

Brown, partner in the Boston law firm of Hale and Dorr, joins his brother Judge Allyn L. Brown '05 on the Corporation. Their father, Lucius Brown '66, also served as a Trustee from 1908 to 1924. A daughter is a member of the Senior Class at Pembroke. He was President of the Boston Brown Club a year ago and was Chairman of Metropolitan Boston for the Housing and Development Campaign.

He is a Trustee of the Massachusetts Memorial Hospitals, President of the Commonwealth Housing Foundation, Vice-President of the Boston Five Cents Savings Bank, Director of the Seaboard Air Line Railroad Co., Fidelity Fund, Inc., and several other investment companies and business corporations. He is also a Trustee of a number of charitable organizations in Greater Boston.

Faculty Recognition

RECENT TRIBUTES to members of the Brown Faculty were cited by President Wriston in his October report to the University Corporation:

"It is an unusual occurrence to have two members of the Faculty featured almost simultaneously in national periodicals. The September, 1952, number of Philosophy and Phenomenological Research, a quarterly journal, is entirely devoted to 'A Symposium in Honor of C. J. Ducasse,' in which the first article is written by Professor Arthur E. Murphy, now of Cornell, who was his colleague in Brown; the second is by Professor Charles A. Baylis, Chairman of the Department in Maryland, also a former member of our Faculty; another is by John W. Blyth, who received his Ph.D. at Brown; still another is by Professor Lucius Garvin (1928), who received his A.B., A.M. and Ph.D. degrees here and is now also at the University of Maryland; other articles are by Professor Roderick M. Chisholm, present Chairman of the Department, and by Professors Tomas and Taylor of the Department.

"This symposium is a remarkable tribute to the breadth of Dr. Ducasse's interests and his enormous influence upon the work of other philosophers. It is a great pleasure to have him still, though in a semi-retired status, teaching at Brown, for his zest for scholarly writing is as fresh as ever and his teaching capacity notable. University recognition was recently given to Dr. Ducasse by a complete display of his books and other writings in the lobby of the John Hay Library.

FOR DUCASSE a symposium

"The monthly magazine, American Artist, for October contains a feature article on Professor Will S. Taylor and, more particularly, his watercolors. The Article emphasizes his 'vigor and freshness of modern outlook applied to sound traditional values' and speaks of 'his creative energy . . . as buoyant and progressive as that of a youngster.' Professor Taylor completes his active teaching at Mid-Years, and it is pleasant to think that in the last semester of his formal instruction he gains this recognition for the liveliness and zest which he has carried up to the very end of his University work.

"Another manifestation of the vigor and scope of faculty activities is indicated by a report from the Physics Department and particularly that section of it which belongs to the Research and Analysis Group. In the semi-annual meeting of the Acoustical Society, eight different papers (10% of the total program) were read by members of the Brown Physics Department. In the period from March, 1951, through June, 1952, 21 papers have been read at meetings, 15 articles have been published—this in addition to the technical reports and regular lectures which have been given by staff members. This is one of the many manifestations of the new role of universities in our modern society.

"Like activity is shown in Biology, Psychology, Chemistry, Engineering, and Applied Mathematics among our science Departments. It is interesting that, at an international conference on Applied Mathematics in Belgium, Brown was the only University from the United States with representatives and that, at the Eighth International Congress on Theoretical and Applied Mechanics held in Istanbul, there were four members of the Brown Faculty in a group of 90 United States engineers and scientists. All such reports are indicative of the intellectual vigor of our Faculty."

There's a Game to CHEER about

WHY WRITE ABOUT ANY GAME but the one with Harvard? That's the one which will be remembered when they talk about the 1952 football season at Brown. Probably you were there, for it was Homecoming Day, of course. If you weren't, you missed it, that's all. Too bad, for it was one of those vastly pleasant afternoons to look back on.

As Bill Cunningham said, "Harvard was expected to win by three or four touchdowns. Still Brown's spirit was high, and its alumni were loyal. Both reaped what, under the circumstances, was a tremendous dividend." The score, incidentally, was 28-21 in Brown's favor.

To savor that victory to the full, you do go back over what had happened beforehand. The team had started the season shorthanded—we won't go into that again. It had shown its inexperience in losing to Yale 28-0 and then dropped a heart-breaker to Rhode Island in the last few minutes 7-6, the second defeat by the Rams in 38 years.

Holy Cross rubbed it in 46-0 in a one-sided contest in which the Bears gained more in penalties than they did in rushing (65 yards) and completed five out of 17 passes for a mere 80 yards. Twice Brown got good drives going, fumbled once and had a pass intercepted the other time. The Crusaders didn't punt even once, running 297 yards and passing for 116 more. Once the Bruins ignored a kickoff and let it be recovered on the 17. In the second quarter when Holy Cross had racked up its third touchdown, Brown did penetrate to the Purple's 25 but a pass was intercepted and run back to our 8. Later, on the HC 22, four of our passes in a row were fruitless. In the fourth quarter Kessariss tossed to Johnson for 40 yards, but there was a fumble on the next play. Those were the only interludes in the Crusaders' offensive domination, the Bears' linebackers having a busy afternoon. Four fumble recoveries gave the defense its only respite.

Bursting Balloon

A Lanning cartoon the day after the Rutgers game showed the explosion of a balloon labelled "The Season's Best Chance of Victory." For, although Brown took the lead in the first seven minutes, Rutgers' big line found itself thereafter. The Bears still had the edge at the half 7-6 but lost 19-7.

Everett Pearson recovered a fumble on his 49 to give Brown its first opportunity. By short gains the Bears travelled downfield, with Woody Baskerville carrying for 16 yards on the key play, a good old-fashioned Statue of Liberty dodge. Kohut made the eventual touchdown from the one-foot threshold. A pass-interference ruling meant 32 vital yards for Rutgers in the second quarter, decidedly contributory to its first score. But Russ Sandblom, a big, fast end, was catching the passes that came his way anyway, and he took his club into the lead in the third period. From that point on, Brown's only bright moments were the defensive stands that took the ball three times on downs, twice within the 10. The Bruins did little attacking once Rutgers learned that there was nothing to be feared overhead and set its defenses principally for running plays. Rutgers caught more of our 19 passes than we did, four against three. "This isn't Brown's year," said a columnist, and folks weren't disputing him.

Princeton didn't make Brown look any better, romping to four touchdowns in the first quarter and coasting to a 39-0 victory. The 50 men on the Tiger bench all got into the game. In the second period the Bruins reached the Orange and Black 22, thanks principally to a 25-yard pass from Kohut to Baskerville. In the third quarter Kohut's toss to Johnson was a 35-yarder to the 23. Each time the ball was lost on downs. In the final period Brown fumbled on the Tigers' 23 and later threatened enough on the 17 to bring the first string eleven on the field, but the touchdown famine continued. The run of defeats had reached an all-time high for Brown at 11. Some experts were wondering why the Bears bothered to finish out their schedule. An anonymous letter-writer from New York with a flair for misspelling was making life even more miserable for Coach Al Kelley.

A Taste of Victory

You wondered that the squad had any spirit left. And it looked like another dark afternoon on Nov. 8 when Connecticut took an immediate lead at Brown Field in the very first minute. On the second play, a Bruin back had fumbled on his 21; Panciera promptly hit one of his half-backs with a flat pass for a touchdown. It so happened that Connecticut scored again—two minutes before the end of the game. But in between Brown had scored three times—more than in the previous four games combined. The final was Brown 21, Connecticut 13.

The Bruins were a much improved team and seemed to relish the taste of victory. In five plays they marched for 80 yards in the second period, with Haverty making the first of his two touchdowns from 11 yards out. Lawrence got the clincher in the last quarter. For the first time Kohut's receivers were hanging onto his passes, and he completed five of 15 for 126 yards. For the first time since the Rhode Island game, the Brunonians had a statistical advantage, with 21 first downs to 13. The bell on U.H. rang merrily and hopefully.

But now Harvard was coming up, with one of its better teams. It had won five out of seven games and scored three times against Princeton the previous week. On Thursday the Brown coaches went over the rival line-ups, comparing man for man and conceding that Harvard had the talent. Of all the football prophets in the country, only Warren Walden of WJAR-TV gave the Bears a chance.

But every psychological edge was with the underdogs. From all over the country came messages of support from the Brown Clubs. The stimulus of the Homecoming atmosphere helped, too, and spirit was high during the week's practices. The previous week the attack had begun to straighten out, and the Sophomores had gained experience the hard way. They were good enough now so that the coaches dared scrimmage them against some of the ineligible who were still working out with the squad.

Getting the Jump

The first touchdown seemed too good to be true. Using a new split-T for the first time this year, Brown broke the ice six plays after the kickoff. After Harvard had matched this tally, the Bears punched out two more in the second quarter for a 21-14 lead at the half. They got their last one in the fourth quarter and held on to win 28-21.

It had been conceded that Brown lacked an aerial threat. Kohut proceeded to complete eight of 11 passes for 137 yards and three touchdowns. They were really catching them for him this time. And he was handling the team like a veteran, too, mixing his threats. Kessaris, Pearson, Thomas, and Haverty (until he was hurt) were running at their best, with Bill Klaess and others blocking like mad out in front. The defense was "up," too, and had to be the way Clasby was running for the Crimson. As Kelley told the undergraduates in a victory rally, it was just guts that kept the men in there on top. A sample of the defensive spirit was Aldrich's, for on one single play he was blocked to the ground three times but got up each time to make his try. The tackles, Hunt and Borjeson, Charley Brown, backer up, and Ken Lyons, end, covered themselves with glory. If it was the sparkling attack which earned the points, it was the defense which held down the constant threat of Clasby & Co. (Harvard, too, had a surprise weapon in a running attack from a left formation not shown previously this fall.)

Right at the start, Brown had a break against it as Kessaris took a lateral from his 24 to Harvard's 14, only to have an offside penalty nullify it. (A later gain of 60 yards went for naught the same way, but Harvard saw a touchdown run of 80 yards cancelled out in the third period, too.) A 32-yard run by Pearson and a pass from Kohut to Johnson, however, made up the distance to the goal just the same. Ten minutes later Harvard had tied it up on a 70-yard advance, of which Culver's 18-yard end run was the climax.

With Borjeson recovering a fumble on Harvard's 23 in the second quarter, the Kohut-Johnson pair put on its touchdown act again. The Brown stands were yelling with each play by now, as the possibility of an upset hit everyone. It seemed even brighter when Pearson raced for 30 yards to Harvard's 25 and, after Kessaris had gained 17 more, went through a good hole in the neighborhood of his left tackle to score. Pendleton was converting each time, a useful habit in view of Monteith's reputation in the same specialty for Harvard. Clasby made it 21-14 at the half.

There were still thrills to come. The Brunonians had a promising march under way in the third period, but Kessaris fumbled after catching a pass on Harvard's 19. From that spot the Crimson rolled down the field to Brown's 4, only to meet a stone wall. What a cheer the defensive unit got when it trotted off the field! It had work to do again in a few minutes, for Harvard threatened again after the next punt. Then, set back from the 34 on one play, O'Neil was hit by three Bruins as he tried to pass, and his fumble was recovered by Aldrich. After Pearson and Thomas had pushed forward to the Harvard 41, Pete Kohut offered his most spectacular feat of the day: The pass from center was bobbled momentarily, but Pete picked up the ball, eluded tacklers to his left, and pitched a perfect strike to Johnson in the end zone.

The game was not over, although the clock kept idling along. A fumble recovered on our 37 kept Harvard in business. Clasby passed for one touchdown and was gambling for another to tie when time ran out.

The new electric scoreboard, contributed by Lewis S. Milner '02, showed 28-21 for Brown—as pretty an initiation as any scoreboard ever had. Al Kelley was carried out on his players' shoulders, and the big Homecoming crowd felt exhausted and jubilant. It is said there was a victory celebration on College Hill that evening.

The First in History

AT THAT STAGE of the football season when the Varsity was losing to Princeton 39-0 and Holy Cross 46-0, it is fair to say that the attention of some Brunonians was divided. More than a few were looking at a likely lot of lads who were turning in the first undefeated season in the history of Freshman football at Brown. You could tell that the alumni were already arraying some of the Cubs in Varsity raiment for 1953, a dangerous but inevitable form of optimism when you "wait 'til next year."

The Freshmen beat Harvard 39-0, Yale 24-7, Cheshire 33-6, Rhode Island 24-6, and Worcester Academy 7-0. The crowd of a couple of thousand which witnessed the last game against Harvard was un-

(Continued on page 29)

KELLEY and the bench. The players were learning the hard way.

Brunonians Far and Near

EDITED BY DOUGLAS A. SNOW '45

1887

U. S. SENATOR Theodore Francis Green was feted by the Brown Club of Washington on the occasion of his 85th birthday in October. Former Attorney-General J. Howard McGrath was the principal speaker. Others who paid tribute to our Classmate included former Korean Ambassador John J. Muccio '21, and ex-Rhode Island Governors Norman S. Case '08 and Judge Robert E. Quinn '15. Green and McGrath are also former Governors.

Earlier, in Providence, Senator Green presented a pair of binoculars to Brown Naval ROTC Midshipman Walter M. Buschman '53 "for excellence in navigation studies." This was the first Senator Green Award. Currently, Senator Green is serving with the U. S. delegation to the U. N. Assembly.

1891

Reporting the death of Dr. Arthur L. Beals the previous day, Chester A. Cook wrote Vice-President Bigelow on Oct. 21: "He was a Delta Phi, my chum all through college, and my roommate in our Senior year. We have been very close to each other all through the years. It is not my custom to send flowers to funerals, and I think it would please him better if I gave something in his memory to Old Brown, where we had so much happiness together. Therefore, I send you my check for $50."

Beals was a "very straightforward sort of a man," said Cook, "and did not believe in all this soft palaver which has become the custom among doctors who cultivate the so-called 'bedside manner.'"

1893

Carl V. Tower has notified us of a new address. It is 441 Main St., Collegeville, Pa.

1895

Walter G. Cady wrote in September: "Am very happily settled in Pasadena, California, with my son Bill '27 and his family. Doing research in ultrasonics at Caltech. Address: 3350 Calvert Rd."

1896

"Suffield Academy's Indestructible Smith"—Jesse F., that is—was featured in the Sunday magazine section of the Hartford Courant on Oct. 5. Our Classmate has been teaching Bible since 1917 at Suffield where he is also alumni recorder. The "indestructible" title refers to his tussle with a tiger who bit him three times before leaving him for dead. This is a favorite story of the hundreds of boys Jess has hiked and biked with in Connecticut's hills. He is still going strong, too, having recently completed the blazing of a 10-mile Boy Scout trail through nearby woods.

Abram Legrand is retired and living at 1754 Asbury Dr., Pasadena 7, Calif. (For a Brunonian neighbor see 1895 notes.)

Building His Gift

ALBERT J. FROHOCK '00 is providing for a gift to Brown in an unusual way—by making monthly contributions to a building and loan association. When its shares mature in six years, he will have built up a $600 gift to the University, through the Class of 1900 Fund.

As a Baptist minister's son, Frohock received free tuition. It is this aid which he intends to repay. He is a Certified Public Accountant in Maine, New Jersey, and Pennsylvania and spends most of his time in the two first States—at Sanford and Moorestown, respectively.

1897

"The simplest and most inadequate thing you can say about George L. Miner is that he's a retired coal dealer," wrote Winfield T. Scott '31 of our Class Secretary. A recent Providence Evening Bulletin feature elaborated a bit on this statement by telling of George's current "project", a history of the 12 original families of Stonington, Conn. An ancestor of his was one of them. "Like most successfully retired men, George Miner has left one full life for another," the reporter wrote.

On the job for 48 years and "still going strong" is Dr. Gregory D. Walcott, Chairman of the Philosophy Department at Long Island University. Our Classmate plans to teach two more years until he is 85. Then he will retire with half a century of teaching behind him. He was featured by the New York Times this fall in an article that noted he was in his 25th year at Long Island which is only 26 years old.

Bill Peck sent Secretary Miner "Greetings from 'The Eternal City'" in September. He had reached Rome after a tour of England, Holland, Germany, Switzerland and northern Italy. He crossed on the SS United States and was having "splendid weather."

1901

Ministers make good teachers of Bible classes, in the opinion of J. Herbert Ward of the Plymouth-Union Congregational Church in Providence. He took part in a debate on the subject recently under the auspices of the R. I. Federation of Men's Bible Classes. The other side of the debate was taken by ministers, who maintained that laymen make the better Bible class teachers.

Dr. Arthur I. Andrews again took a leading role in the Annual Sessions of the Institute of World Affairs at Warner, N. H. During one meeting devoted to Bulgaria, he showed slides he had taken in that country, as well as other souvenirs he and Mrs. Andrews had brought home from there.

Harrison E. Wright of the Bernardsville News sent us the clipping himself. It was from upstate New York and told of the death of a Harrison Wright, aged 76, a resident of New Jersey. "Now," says our classmate, "I am Harrison Wright, 76 years of age, and a resident of New Jersey, BUT I am not dead and buried. Is it not unusual that there should be such similarity between two individuals—moreover that the item should fall into the other man's ken?"

1902

After 24 years as Director of the University Libraries at Ohio State University, Earl N. Manchester has retired to Daytona Beach, Fla., where his address is 529 North Oleander Ave.

1903

Edward N. White has sent us his new address, 211 East Lake Sue Ave., Winter Park, Fla.

1905

Fred Broomhead was honored in October at a reception at Nayatt for his 25 years' service with the Barrington Nursing Association. He is also serving a two-year term as a Director of the R. I. Tuberculosis and Health Association.

1906

Dr. Emery M. Porter cherishes a citation from the Narragansett Council, Boy Scouts of America, which presented him with its Capt. George Bucklin "For Merit" Medal: "You have served boys with zeal and interest for 20 years as medical advisor, health examiner, safety chairman, camp inspector, and as director and trustee. Scouting offers you this medal in grateful appreciation."

"Harry Knowles of South County is a man who collects shipwrecks," began an article in the Oct. 19 "Rhode Islander", magazine section of the Providence Sunday Journal. At Homestead Farm where he lives, our Classmate is compiling a list of the ships that have been tossed up on the R. I. shore between Point Judith and Narragansett. His great-grandfather, Hazard Knowles, made note of the first two shipwrecks on Harry's current list of 69.

Ben Lindemuth has been enjoying a seven weeks' trip abroad this fall, visiting England, France, Switzerland and Italy. This is just one more illustration of the wisdom that is being exhibited by some of our Classmates in seeing the world before it is too late.

An Atlas of Religion

DR. EDWIN S. GAUSTAD, former Instructor in the Department of Biblical Literature at Brown University, has received a research scholarship of the American Council of Learned Societies. The scholarship, which is one awarded to teachers having doctorate degrees in the humanities, will enable Dr. Gaustad to prepare a historical atlas of religion in America.

Dr. Gaustad served last year on the Brown faculty and this year, although not directly associated with the University, he will continue to do much of his research at Brown.

Lloyd W. Josselyn not only represented Brown at the inauguration of Russell Jay Humbert as the 15th President of De Pauw University but sent Provost Arnold a lively, detailed account of his day. Those who have seen Josselyn's report on the 40th reunion will understand what it was like. He concluded: "I thoroughly enjoyed the day; I believe I behaved myself with the correct amount of dignity; and possibly I did a fair job for you and the University." Dr. Arnold called it "one of the best letters I have ever read from any representative after any collegiate function."

The William P. Burnhams were back at 131 Storrs Ave., Braintree, Mass.,

when Bill wrote in mid-October. "We'll stay here until about Thanksgiving time," he said, "and then start South, with Providence the first stop. . . . Tell Shan when you see him that I only wish we could have the reunion over again this fall and next spring, too!" Bill speaks of himself as a resident of Maine now that he has retired from French Shriner and Urner. From April 1 until the advent of cold weather each year, he expects to be at Squirrel Island, Me., where the Village Corporation elected him Chairman of the Board of Overseers. Among his visitors last summer were Herb Keen, Ralph Palmer '10, and Tommy Thomas '08, who preached at the Island chapel in August.

Your Secretary has begun another year as a member of the Library Committee of the Providence Athenaeum, which selects the new non-fiction books for the library.

Frank Wetherell Pierce, who died in Banners Elk, N. C., July 24, 1952, was a special student with the Class, entering in 1903 and leaving in 1906. He never took part in any of the Class activities.

Shan Clark is serving his 15th consecutive term as President of the South County Art Association.

1908

Grey H. Wyman has left Mercersburg, Pa., for Hillsboro, N. H. where he lives in Hillsboro Lower Village.

The sympathy of Classmates goes to Bill Griffith of Littleton, N. H., whose wife died Sept. 5, 1952, after a long illness.

1909

Lawrence L. Larrabee, now living at 411 Shatto Place, Los Angeles 5 (Larry lived in the same house years ago), reports that he is recovering after a second coronary attack that laid him low last June. We know that Larry will be happy to receive postcards or letters from Classmates and college friends.

Classmates join in extending sympathy to Harold B. Tanner who lost his mother, Mrs. Annie T. Dunlop Tanner, in Providence, Sept. 29, 1952. She was the widow of Willard B. Tanner '79. Harold is Brown's new Chancellor.

William Davis Miller retired in October after more than 20 years as a member of the board of trustees of the Peoples Savings Bank in Providence. His successor is William J. Gilbane '33.

Ivory and Mrs. Littlefield celebrated their 40th wedding anniversary in October.

Johnny Bunker finds that in retirement his half-time job still takes about ½ x 24 hours per day. John has been laid up by a bug which settled "in his left hind foot," but he writes that he is ambulatory.

Writing of the late Frank E. (Spike) Dennie, C. E. McBride of the Kansas City Star recalled working with him as a football official. McBride had called a safety on a punt play. "What did you see?" said Dennie, the umpire. "The kicker stepped out of bounds," McBride replied, "and I almost missed it." "But you didn't," said Dennie. McBride says, "We've always remembered that morale-lifting comment because it was typical of the man. He was a man of sterling character, positive yet not a bully, knowing fouls that should be called and unafraid. He came to be in demand in the bigger games, and his fellow officials always felt an added degree of safety when Dennie was roaming the umpire's spots." Leon Sittenfield '34 sent us the clipping.

1910

George Caswell wrote us earlier of his plans to move to Florida after the first of December for his 18th season in hotel work there.

Frank Mansur left for South Africa the last of October. He is visiting his daughter and her family in Johannesburg and planning to stay until May 1953.

1911

To Hubert D. Tanner goes the sympathy of Classmates on the death of his

Ithaca's Monument to Bobbyology

CORNELL'S THURSTON HALL: The right wing memorializes a pioneer.

ALREADY IN USE and destined for spring dedication are two new engineering laboratories at Cornell University, completed at a cost of nearly two million dollars. The Materials Testing Laboratory has been named for Robert H. Thurston, Brown 1859, inventor and pioneer in engineering education. It contains special equipment and complete facilities for research and teaching of fundamental problems in stresses and testing engineering materials and structures.

Thurston developed the first four-year course ever offered in mechanical engineering in the early days of Stevens Institute of Technology. President White brought him to Cornell to head Sibley College of Mechanical Engineering, where he served as Director from 1885 until his death in 1903.

Writing in the Cornell Alumni News in 1944, Dean Dexter S. Kimball described Thurston's work. (The companion laboratory, a materials processing lab, is named for Kimball.) He said this of Thurston:

"To outline a curriculum was one thing; to supply subject matter, a much more difficult undertaking. Modern textbooks, such as now flood the market, were not to be had. Thurston began to develop his own lectures on strength of materials and the theory of the steam engine. This, in turn, led him into experimentation which culminated in the formation of the first mechanical laboratory for testing materials and machines. . . . Out of this work came new ideas and data as to the properties of materials, new data on friction and lubrication. In these fields he invented new testing machines which were in advance of anything elsewhere. . . . He became known as a leader in his profession, and when the American Society of Mechanical Engineers was organized in 1880, he was unanimously made its first president.

"To his students he was 'Bobby,' and his famous course in Thermodynamics which was required of all Seniors in Mechanical Engineering was always known as 'Bobbyology.' No student who ever went to him for help came away without sound advice."

A Cornell University convocation in 1939 celebrated the 100th anniversary of Thurston's birth. Five years ago Cornell received a valuable collection of letters, books, diplomas, and medals which had belonged to Thurston, including a petition from his students in 1894 asking him to give informal talks on his engineering reminiscences. He left to Cornell the home he had built with prize money which he shared as engineering officer on the Civil War gunboat, U. S. Unadilla, when she captured the blockade runner, Princess Royal.

The picture which accompanies this article is reproduced through the courtesy of H. A. Stevenson, Editor of our excellent contemporary, the Cornell Alumni News.

mother, Mrs. Annie T. Dunlop Tanner in Providence, Sept. 29, 1952. Class condolences are also in order for Louis S. Carmark whose wife, a prominent Providence educator before her retirement a year ago, died Oct. 16, 1952.

1912

John T. Winterich, Contributing Editor on the staff of the Saturday Review, is going to provide the weekly literary quiz in that magazine. He assumes this challenging duty following the death of Howard Collins.

Wiley Marble's daughter, Judith, was married Nov. 1, 1952, to William J. Carr in Albuquerque.

1913

Prof. Walter Snell has been made an honorary Vice-President of the Audubon Society of Rhode Island. He is also Chairman of the R. I. Dutch Elm Disease Advisory Committee.

1914

Kathleen Rae Moffett, younger daughter of William A. Moffett and his wife, was married June 15, 1952, to Wallace G. Hall a 1952 chemical engineering graduate of Michigan State College. The couple are living in Trenton, Mich.

Another Class "daughter" who was recently married is Audrey Stowe Holding, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Holding. She became the wife of Ens. Donald McLean at services in Central Congregational Church, Providence, Oct. 4, 1952.

1915

A summer letter from Cecil M. P. Cross told of his new venture in South America. He has started a coffee plantation in Brazil, where his address is Fazenda A Bota, Caixa Postal 58, Ceres, Goias, Brazil. Of the town of Ceres, our Classmate wrote: "It is on the new frontier of Central Brazil and possesses one of the best climates and soils to be found in the world. All Brown men will be welcome visitors, but it would be well to give me a little time to get started."

William F. Littlejohn has retired and his new address is 6617 Willston Place, Falls Church, Va.

Sidney Clifford is the recipient of a Silver Beaver, awarded "for Distinguished Service to Boyhood" by the National Council, Boy Scouts of America. The accompanying citation was: "Member of the Board of Directors of Narragansett Council, respected member of the R. I. Bar, honored alumnus and Trustee of Brown University, devoted churchman, you have been the valued legal adviser for Scouting in Rhode Island for a quarter-century. Fortright and fearless, you have advanced and strengthened the Scout program by your advice and counsel and by your regular, consistent participation in all our meetings and projects . . . and by your vigorous, crusading spirit."

Dr. George W. Waterman is President of the R. I. Cancer Society.

1916

Harold M. Messer was Brown's official representative at the inauguration of Walter C. Langsam as the eighth President

Governmental Sabbatic

AS DIRECTOR of the Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs at Princeton, Dr. Dana G. Munro '12 is administering an unusual new program. As the result of a gift of $250,000 from John D. Rockefeller, III, outstanding public servants in any branch of the Federal Government will be rewarded with a leave of absence in which to study in this country or abroad. The period of six to 12 months will be at no financial sacrifice to the recipient.

President Truman has said: "The Federal Government would profit a great deal if more of our top officials could afford to take time away from their jobs for further study, research, or travel. This Nation has a great stake not only in attracting the ablest men and women into the public service but also in providing the means for the fullest development of their abilities while in the service."

The Woodrow Wilson School has already been attacking the problem on a smaller scale. In its first three years of operation under Dr. Munro, 38 men completed either a one or two-year course in the graduate program. Of these, nine were on leave from government or business posts to which they returned.

of Gettysburg College on Oct. 25. Our Classmate is Associate Professor of Biology at Gettysburg.

William A. Graham was elected a member of the Executive Committee of the Rhode Island Bar Association at its recent annual meeting.

1917

To C. Bird Keach goes the sympathy of Classmates on the death of his mother, Mrs. Daisy Bird Keach, in Riverton, N. J., Oct. 15, 1952.

1919

Providence lawyer Arthur J. Levy is Editor-in-Chief of the Rhode Island Bar Journal, new monthly publication of the R. I. Bar Association.

English Professor Ben Brown addressed a panel group on "The College Theater in New England" at the first annual convention of the N. E. Theater Conference in Boston in October. We're hoping he will be able to reconstruct the talk for publication in this magazine.

Dr. Merrill K. Bennett, Executive Director of Stanford's Food Research Institute, spent three months recently in British East Africa as one of five members of a study group sponsored by the Carnegie Corporation of New York.

James C. Scott is President of the Past Department Commanders Association of Rhode Island, a group of former leaders of veterans organizations.

1921

John J. Muccio, former U. S. Ambassador to Korea and currently this country's delegate to the U. N. General Assembly, spoke in Providence on United Nations Day, Oct. 23. Lauding the role of the Western world in Korea, he called the action over there a pattern rather than an isolated situation. Earlier, our Classmate was awarded the University of Rhode Island's annual Distinguished Servant Award.

Albert E. Lowmes is a member of the Regional Jamboree Committee which is arranging New England participation in the Third National Jamboree of the Boy Scouts of America, to be held next summer in California.

William T. Brightman, Jr., is a new member of the Board of Deacons of the Central Congregational Church in Providence.

Arthur H. Feiner has been named to the Executive Committee of the Rhode Island Bar Association.

1922

Dr. Frank A. Quintard, who served with the Class during the stirring days of the S.A.T.C. and later took his degree at the University of Pennsylvania, has retired from the active practice of dentistry in favor of farming at St. Michaels on the Eastern Shore in Maryland. His daughter Sally, having married R. C. Abbott, a Yale graduate, is living in Frank's old home town of Stamford, Conn.

We know of no more loyal Brown man than S. Watson Remington—of Glen Ridge, N. J. "Beanie", who is with the Great American Indemnity Co. at 95 Maiden Lane, New York City, has been most active in starting and guiding the Eagle Rock Brown Club of which he is an executive committee member. As an eye-witness to the Brown-Rhode Island game, he was, to put it mildly, "disappointed". Weren't we all? Our Classmate qualifies in the Grandfather's Club with two entries. "Beanie" may be reached at 37 Herman Street, Glen Ridge.

John T. Hackett has moved from the Brown Club to the Hotel Shelton in New York City. Jack, who is Editor of SEE magazine, is peering into the future directly at our 35th Reunion in 1957.

We introduce the Classmate we believe to be our leading Grandfather, the Rev. Walter Williams who has four grandchildren, evenly divided between boys and girls. Walt, a priest of the Episcopal Church, has been active in that denomi-

Christmas Concerts

THE ANNUAL CHRISTMAS CONCERT of the Glee Clubs of Brown and Pembroke will be held on Sunday, Dec. 14, in Sayles Hall instead of Alumnae Hall this year. As before, an afternoon and an evening performance have been scheduled with reserved seats going to concert series ticket-holders. The equally famous Latin Christmas Carol Service is scheduled for Dec. 11 in the same hall.

The Brown Glee Club, under the direction of David Laurent '49, is available for concert appearances under Brown Club auspices. All inquiries should be addressed to: Brown Glee Club, Box 1146, Brown University, Providence 12. A spring concert in Hartford is already on the docket.

nation's national organization and is now Executive Secretary of the Division of Leadership Training in the Department of Christian Education. He is also serving as a member of the Joint Commission on the Revision of the Hymnal and the Joint Commission on the Prayer Book. He has kept up his musical interests, having been on the Joint Commission on Church Music as well as Dean of the School of Church Music at Evergreen, Colorado. Walt travels extensively but mail will reach him at 28 Haveney Place, Greenwich, Conn.

James Graham Campbell, who was with our Class as a Freshman and graduated, after time out, with 1925, is now District Sales Manager for Clark Brothers Chewing Gum Co. of Pittsburgh, Pa. Graham is in charge of sales operations in New England, New York and Pennsylvania. His home is hard by the Yale Bowl at Cheshire, Conn.

John F. Quinn, Pawtucket, is doing his bit for Alma Mater. Jack's son, John F. Jr., is a Freshman on the Hill this fall and his next son, Dick, expects to matriculate next September.

Also in the group of enthusiastic Pawtucket Classmates is Raymond J. Farrell, head of the department of chemistry at Pawtucket East High School. Since giving up baseball Ray has been doing summer hotel night audits. He lists as his most famous hostelry the now lamented Grand Union at Saratoga. He considers the Black Point Inn at Prout's Neck, Maine, as the most beautiful spot in which he has labored.

After considerable experience and honor in both the practice and teaching of accounting, Edwin C. Walmsley is Professor of Accounting at Wayne University. Ed has traveled extensively in North, South, and Central America as well as in Europe. When he is at home his extra curricular activities center seasonally on the Detroit Tigers, Detroit Lions, and Detroit Red Wings. Ed is also, like your correspondent, a devotee of soccer, a skillful, bruising, universal game little appreciated by most Americans.

Another distinguished pedagogue on the Class rolls is Alvin A. Gaffney who is completing his thirtieth year in teaching as principal of the Wixon School in Fall River. Al reports recently seeing Classmates Art Durfee and Russell Mack. His son, Alvin, Jr., is now in France where he is serving his country in the Army.

It appears that Charles T. Lazure may develop into a confirmed bachelor. Not married yet, Charlie, who took his law degree at St. Lawrence, is on the staff of the Corporation Counsel of the City of New York. His home address is 50 West 106th Street, New York.

CLARK FORSTALL

1923

Two meetings in connection with the 30th reunion were scheduled to be held in Providence during November. We'll have reports on them next month, Nat Chase assures us.

Recent visitors to the campus have included Ken Sheldon, Chick Beattie, and Lloyd Gallup. Beattie had his family with him, including a son who will be ready for Brown next fall. Gallup reports a boy in his second year at West Point. Everyone is looking forward to the 30th reunion at the next Commencement.

Ronald B. Smith has been named to the Executive Committee of the Rhode Island Bar Association.

George F. Thibodeau has moved from Virginia to North Carolina where he is Project Manager for Blythe Bros. Co., in Swansboro.

1924

H. Bechtel Smith is a Vice-President and partner of Kieswetter Associates, Inc., New York City. He was formerly Vice-President in charge of advertising and sales of Royal Lace Paper Works, Inc., Brooklyn.

S. Everett Wilkins has been selected to head the $150,000 campaign of the Providence Country Day School. The doubling of enrollment in the last 25 years has made necessary new classrooms and added study and assembly hall space.

KUDNER AGENCY, Inc., has named Martin B. Rice '25 as a Vice-President. He will continue in the Detroit office as service man on the Buick account for this advertising house.

Clarence Chaffee uses heavy doses of psychology in his coaching, according to an article in the Williams Alumni Review. While one boy will best respond to steady needling, another needs to have his confidence built up. One of his most successful devices, says a tennis star he developed, is to make you concentrate on winning the next point—not to worry about the set as a whole. Chaffee handles soccer, squash, and tennis. He was a recent Providence visitor when his soccer team and Brown played a 1-1 tie.

Carlton Bliss is a Director of the North Attleboro, Mass., YMCA.

1925

An unsigned airmail postcard arrived recently from overseas bearing the following message: "Classmates from Brown meet in the Orly, France Operations office of MATS. Pat Kenny and Ty Morhouse ran into each other at Orly last Sunday, the 28th of Sept. Pat was en route to Weisbaden and Ty was going back to the London area—both had spent the weekend in Paris and both were in the Class of 1925. The former hopes to be back at Brown shortly, but Morhouse has three years of overseas duty to do before coming back to the States." "Pat," of course, is Col. Robert W. Kenny, Dean of the College at Brown before his recall to service with Military Intelligence. "Ty" is Col. Charles H. Morhouse of aviation medicine renown.

William C. Waring, Jr., formerly assistant to the President of Textron, is President of the Atlantic Parachute Corporation, an affiliate.

1926

H. Cushman Anthony will be the leader of the Rhode Island delegation to next summer's Boy Scout Jamboree in California. Gus is observing the 25th anniversary of his service as an Executive on the staff of the Narragansett Council, with headquarters in Providence.

Howard G. Lewis, Principal of the Brigham Junior High School in Providence, is also Commander of Providence Post, American Legion.

Noel M. Field is a Director of the American Screw Co. of Willimantic, Conn.

Dick Bailey, son of Percy L. Bailey, Jr., has entered Governor Dummer Academy and won a berth on the soccer team this fall. He was captain of this sport at Eaglebrook School, from which he was graduated last June. He'd also been co-captain of hockey and Chairman of the Athletic Committee. In the meantime, the father "plugs along as Director of the Biology Department in the Evening Division of the School of General Studies at the City College of New York and uses some of his spare time as organist of the Presbyterian Church in Tenafly."

Dana R. Arnold is a new Trustee of the Mary C. Wheeler School in Providence.

Dave Stackhouse is a busy man these days. As Vice-President of Television Associates of Rhode Island, Inc., he has just filed application for a TV station in Providence. The organization is raising its capital by selling shares to the general public of Rhode Island, a plan which is unique in the industry. Besides that, Dave's own company, Stackhouse Games, Inc., has entered the novelty fields with a new line of adult and juvenile proprietary games. The company's first item, a patented cribbage board that prevents mistakes in scoring, is already on sale at F. A. O. Schwarz in New York City. The board is Dave's invention.

Carl A. Kuester's son, Carl K. Kuester '51, received his commission as a Second Lieutenant at the Army Engineer Center, Ft. Belvoir, Va.

1927

Merritt W. Seymour is Office Manager and accountant at the North Dighton, Mass., division of Tower Iron Works. His home is still in Riverside, R. I.

New Chairman of the Darien (Conn.) Red Cross Chapter is Alan P. Fort. Al's two boys, Alan, Jr., and Frederick L., are both students at Brown now. Alan, Jr., is following in his father's steps as captain of the Cheering Squad.

Don Ball is director of editing for CBS Radio. With the network since 1929, he has been an announcer and a program director as well as a radio and TV editor.

Irving Loxley is Secretary of The Players in Providence.

Walter Brownsword, head of the English Department at Providence Central High School, has been named Director of Public Relations for the city schools. He will assist in editing official department publications as well as collect and disseminate school system news.

Howard Presel is serving the State of Rhode Island in the methods and office services division of the Department of Administration under Director Howard A. Kenyon '22. A major project has been the evaluation of official records which run into tens of millions of pieces, which have presented a major storage problem. Presel was formerly a Providence Councilman and finance committee chairman.

Robert S. Asbury is Superintendent of Research and Engineering Services at the Ethyl Plant in Baton Rouge, La.

Robert S. Preston is a Director of the National Association of Insurance Agents, representing Rhode Island.

Just in time for the holiday business comes the new catalogue of The House of Campbell, West Harwich, Cape Cod, Mass. This is J. Richard Campbell's thriving business, which he formerly conducted in West Newton. On the Cape he has a combination home and workshop, barn, toy and gift shop, which caters to many summer visitors, but the mail order business ("unusual gifts for the entire family") is important to the House at this season.

1929

Donald C. Marschner, advertising and sales promotion manager for the Shell Oil Co., has been appointed one of five judges in the Advertising Federation of America's 1953 national essay contest for high school students. "A Teen-Ager Looks at Advertising" is the theme of the seventh annual contest in which 70,000 entrants are expected.

Lou Farber writes that he is "back in football coaching" after a two-year lapse. A teacher at Tucson High School, Arizona's largest, he is mentoring the newly-formed J.V. football team.

David Aldrich recently exhibited his paintings at the Providence Art Club. He is also a member of the Executive Council of Meeting Place, a two-year-old project in support of Rhode Island Art.

1930

Donald R. Hunt has moved to Irving, Tex., where he is General Manager of the Andrew Brown Co. plant there. His address is O'Connor Rd., Dallas County.

Arthur Perry is teaching French at Hermon High School, Bangor, Me.

Tom Tisdell has been named to the New England AAU Timing Committee.

Woodworth L. Carpenter is serving the Rhode Island Universalist Convention as its President.

1931

Col. Waldo H. Fish assumed acting command of the reactivated 43rd National Guard Division in October. Our Classmate was artillery executive officer of the division during World War II.

Joel A. Rogers has a new address in Clayton, Mo. It is 4 Willow Rd.

Classmates join in extending sympathy to Winfield T. Scott whose mother, Mrs. Bessie Townley Scott, died in Haverhill, Mass., Sept. 30, 1952.

THE AMERICAN ASSOCIATION of Advertising Agencies announced recently the election of George P. Richardson, Jr., '27 as Chairman of the Board of its Michigan Council. He will also serve on the national board as a Director. Richardson is a Vice-President of the J. Walter Thompson Co., associated with its Detroit office.

Ronald C. Green, Jr., is a new Trustee of the Providence Public Library, which is constructing a large addition to its central library. He's also Vice-President of the Lying-In Hospital in Providence.

The promotion of Donald Flynn '30, whose picture we printed last month, reminds us that he was one of three Brown men with offices immediately adjoining each other on the 17th floor of 100 Park Ave., New York headquarters of the Ethyl Corporation. The others are our classmate, Stanton P. Nickerson, and Norman B. Wakeman '36, both of Public Relations.

Dr. Robert H. Morey wrote us from Canandaigua, N. Y., last spring telling us of the progress he is making in his research on basic rights. During the summer months he publishes the Canandaigua Lake News, the income from which helps to support his studies in 12 countries in Mexico and South America and three European countries. So far, he and his colleagues have discovered 10 basic rights which are found in all American constitutions.

1932

Tom Eccleston, Principal of the Burrillville High School in Rhode Island, continues to coach football and hockey, although he has given up his duties as baseball coach. In the latter capacity, he developed six straight division champions and three State champions in a seven-year period, with one winning stretch of 25 straight.

1933

Anthony B. Manera is Director of the N. E. Control Laboratory in Providence. The laboratory supervises quality control tests on milk, ice cream and foods and inspects processing plants and eating establishments.

William J. Gilbane is a new member of the board of trustees of the Peoples Savings Bank in Providence.

Frederick W. Arnold has joined Harper-Atlantic Sales, Inc., as assistant to the President. Formerly assistant manager of the Reuben H. Donnelly Corporation's Boston office, he is in charge of research for Harper-Atlantic.

Robert W. Colwell was elected a Deacon of the Central Congregational Church at the recent annual meeting.

Norman H. Watson is Vice-President of the new R. I. Professional Photographers' Association, chosen at the organization meeting of the group in Newport last month. It is affiliated with the National PPA. The election was quite a compliment since Watson, although a highly competent photographer, is not a professional.

1934

Bancroft Littlefield was elected Secretary of the Board of Trustees of the Mary C. Wheeler School in Providence at its recent annual meeting.

G. Edward Falciglia is Chairman of the Massachusetts and Rhode Island YMCA Sports Council which conducts the annual festival in which 900 athletes take part.

1935

Dr. John C. Allen is Dean of the new School of Physical Therapy, instituted at the University of Connecticut in September. Our Classmate is on the psychiatric staff at the Hartford Hospital. The school has 76 students enrolled this first semester.

1936

Edward R. Kapp, Jr., runs his own business, the Kapp Distributing Co., in Flint, Mich.

Chief of Technical Services in the Human Resources Research Bureau is Harold F. Bright. He lives in Falls Church, Va., at 306 Graham Rd.

Dr. Clarence D. Hawkes is serving his fourth term as Secretary of the Neurological Society of America. He served as Toastmaster at the dinner marking the 65th birthday of Dr. Gilbert Horrax, renowned Chief Neurosurgeon of the Lahey Clinic in Boston.

Walter Chucin is manager of the Sherman Manufacturing Co. in Providence.

John H. Davis, who often serves track meets as a starter, is a member of the New England AAU Timing Committee. He is also a member of the Board of Governors of the R. I. Track and Field Officials' Association, along with Coach Fuqua.

Charles Drury is one of the three leaders of the Mount Hermon School's Living Endowment campaign, which corresponds with our Alumni Fund.

Prescott Gustafson was President of the Narragansett Bay Yachting Association this past season. One of his duties was to head the race committee which selected Narragansett Bay entries in the final eliminations for the Olympic sailing singles. One of them was Jeff Spranger, Brown Sophomore.

1937

David R. McGovern, Assistant City Treasurer of Providence, was active as treasurer of a group of alumni who rose to the defense of Providence Classical High School when a survey of the city's school system recommended elimination of this unit, where many Brown men prepared for college. The defense was successful.

Edward R. Bancroft, Jr., Bridgeport branch manager for I.B.M., has a new home address, 2821 North St., Fairfield, Conn.

1938

A recent letter asking us to change the address of William Harrison, M.D., to 1406 Linville St., Kingsport, Tenn., also noted that "He is Pathologist of Holston Valley Community Hospital—and father of four children!" It was signed: "Judy Harrison (Spouse and Secretary)."

Abraham Goldstein received his law degree from Boston College last June and is living in Providence.

After 17 months' active duty with the Air Force, Allan R. Brent has resumed his position as Vice-President in charge of production of Herbert S. Benjamin Associates, Baton Rouge, La., advertising firm. A World War II veteran, our Classmate served during his recall as comptroller of the 306th Bombardment Wing, the Air Force's first B-47 jet bomber group, at MacDill AFB, Fla.

Dr. and Mrs. Curtis B. Watson, with Danielle and Paul, have moved from Athens, Greece, to Beirut, Lebanon. After two years of teaching English literature on a Fulbright grant at Peirce College in Athens, our Classmate has accepted a three-year associate professorship at the University of Beirut.

The Edwards Minerals

THE DEPARTMENT OF GEOLOGY received in May the first installment of the Stafford C. Edwards collection of minerals and is expecting to receive more as the labeling is continued by Mrs. Stafford C. Edwards.

Mr. Edwards graduated from Brown in 1895 and was for many years a teacher in California. He died in 1947. He traveled widely and collected unusual mineral specimens on his trips, especially in the Rocky Mountains and other western areas. The collection eventually included three or four hundred specimens, both of natural crystals and polished pieces. He did his own polishing. These specimens gave him a great deal of pleasure as mementoes of his trips and he took great pride in showing them to his friends. The quality of the natural minerals and the excellence of the polish indicate that Mr. Edwards was a man of discriminating taste and fine skill.

Brown already has one of the very good university collections of minerals, and this new acquisition will increase its usefulness for teaching and research purposes. The specimens of the new collection will be labeled as a memorial to Mr. Edwards. Two anonymously-minded Brown men in California are helping Mrs. Edwards with the transfer.

Dr. Edmund B. Curran is new State Police Surgeon in Rhode Island.

William Wolfe, export manager for Jacques Kreisler, is on tour again with the company's latest line of men's jewelry and watchbands. He spent six weeks this fall visiting Kreisler distributors in Tokyo, Hong Kong, Bangkok, Singapore, Manila and Honolulu.

Harry Judd, reporting another birth in his family and also in Bill Garvy's, says he's planning on coming east for the big reunion in June. He's with United States Gypsum Co., in Chicago.

Bill Garvy even got Judd to provide us with the new Garvy address: 2928 Indian Wood Rd., Wilmette, Ill.

The Rev. Howard C. Olsen, Prof. Sinclair W. Armstrong, and Stuart Sherman '39 are on the committee arranging an adult discussion group on world politics conducted in Providence this season by the American Foundation for Political Education with support from the Fund for Adult Education of the Ford Foundation.

1939

Robert L. Scowcroft was recalled last May to active duty with the Marine Corps. He is serving as a pilot instructor of "potential Naval Aviators," and expects to be in until October 1953. His address: Capt. Robert L. Scowcroft, USMCR, 621 Sunset Ave., Navy Point, Warrington, Fla.

Samuel N. Bogorad, recently promoted to Associate Professor of English at the University of Vermont, is co-author of a new freshman English textbook, "The College Miscellany." (Rinehart and Co. is the publisher.) Last summer our Classmate worked at Yale on a research grant; in 1951 he was a Visiting Professor of English at William and Mary.

Alfred N. Kay is Management engineer for the Army Comptroller at Third Army Headquarters, Ft. McPherson, Ga. Our Classmate's residential address is 2014 McClelland Dr., Apt. 3, East Point, Ga.

Foster B. Davis, Jr., is serving his first term as a Trustee of the Providence Public Library, of which Stuart C. Sherman is Assistant Librarian. Sherman has been elected a Deacon of the Central Congregational Church in Providence.

Charles E. Gross, 2nd, is Clerk of the Central Congregational Church.

Theodore Lemeshka is a member of the Board of Directors of the North Providence Kiwanis Club.

1940

Donald L. Ranard is Director of the Educational Exchange Program at the American Embassy in Tokyo, to which he has been assigned for two years as Cultural Attaché. Mrs. Ranard and their four children have gone to Tokyo with him. The Falls Church Echo said their departure was a great loss to the nearby community of Vienna where they lived, for Mrs. Ranard had conducted the Country Kindergarten there for five years. The Washington Brown Club likewise misses its former President.

Robert T. Engles has been elected to the Board of Managers of The Players of Providence.

Dr. Spencer C. Manrodt is interning at the U. S. Public Health Service Hospital in Boston.

1941

Charles Weisbecker is field manager for the Charlotte (N. C.) Sales Office of the Ford Motor Co. He lives in Charlotte at 200 North Laurel, Apt. 8A.

Allan S. Nanes is teaching Political Science at Brooklyn College this year. He recently had an article on American policy in Iran published.

Providence lawyer H. Eliot Rice acted for the Brown Navy Club in presenting a ship's clock to NROTC Midshipman 3c Richard H. Faulkner '55 who had the best scholastic record in Naval Science subjects during his Freshman year at Brown. Rice is Vice-President of the Club.

CENTRAL NATIONAL BANK of Cleveland has named Douglas S. Clarke '31 as a Vice-President. He has been with Central National since 1945, first as estate investment analyst and a year later as Manager of the Cred't Department. Long active in affairs of Robert Morris Associates, he is a Trustee and Executive Committeeman of the Cleveland Chapter of the National Association of Credit Men. A hobby is amateur dramatics, with the Cleveland Heights Players, Cain Park, and other groups.

1942

Douglas E. Leach, who has received his Ph.D. in History, is a member of the Bates College Faculty. His methods in providing a practical or laboratory approach to the teaching of American Colonial History was described in a recent issue of the Bates Alumnus. He is also responsible for courses in Medieval, British, Far Eastern and Russian History.

Paul Harrison, who handles phases of the Point Four program as a State Department official, filled a number of speaking engagements in Rhode Island recently in connection with United Nations Week. He declared that the program, by extending technical help to backward nations, is thwarting revolution in some instances. Paul is trying to get private industry interested in Point Four.

Joseph H. Roberts is publicity director for the city of Tucson, Ariz. He lives there at 252 N. Main St.

After four years at Peekskill Military Academy, George D. Senter has joined the Department of Mathematics at the Hill School, Pottstown, Pa.

William H. Mann is on the sales staff of the American Metal Hose Division of the American Brass Co., Waterbury, Conn.

John R. Coakley has been awarded the professional designation C.P.C.U. by the American Institute for Property and Liability Underwriters. He is field supervisor, casualty and bond lines, in the Toledo, Ohio, office of the Travelers Insurance Companies.

A letter from Richard B. Earle, noting that "it is a long time" since he was in touch with Brown, got us all caught up on his current status. A laboratory and X-ray technician at the Memorial Hospital in North Conway, N. H., he lives in Center Conway with his wife, the former Anne Cadwalader, and two sons, Stephen Jackson Earle, who will be three this month, and Richard, Jr., just a year and a half old. Our Classmate is a certified ski instructor in the Eastern Slope Region, too.

Roommates in Reunion

WILLIAM H. HOGAN, Jr., '39 of Lynn and William H. Bates '40 of Salem were roommates together at Brown. They enlisted in the Navy for World War II duty on the same day.

This past fall Congressman William H. Bates went to Japan on a Congressional errand. Waiting to greet him at the International Airport in Tokyo was Commander William H. Hogan, Jr., a member of the Navy's legal staff for the Far East Command.

1943

William P. Wells is a buyer for the A. B. Wyckoff Department Store in Stroudsburg, Pa. His address is R. D. 3, Stroudsburg.

Discharged from the Army Medical Corps in June, Dr. Robert W. Bell is living on West Bay Rd., Osterville, Mass.

Joseph A. Callanan is a writer on the staff of The Lamp, publication of the Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey. He has moved to New York City from Columbus, Ohio.

From Washington University, St. Louis, Donald H. Bucklin received his doctor's degree in zoology in June.

Maurice B. Leboeuf, an engineer at G. E.'s plutonium-producing Hanford Works in Oregon, was co-author of a paper presented at a meeting of the American Chemical Society in June. Its title: "Effect of High Beta Backgrounds on Proportional Alpha Counting."

New manager of the Better Business Bureau in Springfield, Mass., is Paul Afleck.

Allen Huntington is a research engineer with the Jet Propulsion Laboratory at the California Institute of Technology in Pasadena.

Peter L. Leeb has moved to Philadelphia where he is refrigerator zone manager for the Crosley Division of AVCO Mfg. Co.

Joseph E. Cook, Jr., has set up a double business for himself in Denver, Colo. Already a certified public accountant, Joe went to Stanford University where he received his law degree in June. This summer he passed the Colorado State bar exams and has opened law and accounting offices with two Notre Dame graduates. John D. Ryan is a lawyer and an accountant, too; Gerald M. Shea is a lawyer only, but he is also an insurance expert. Joe comments: "We believe we are unique in Denver in offering the variety of services which we do all under one roof. . . . There are a total of 16 college degrees and licenses for the three of us hanging on our walls. We will probably never make any money, but when times get tough maybe we can go into the used frame business."

1944

Herbert Sherman, Jr., has been granted a leave of absence from the University of Pittsburgh Law School faculty to serve as Assistant Chairman of the Arbitration Board for the U. S. Steel Co. and the United Steelworkers of America, C.I.O.

David P. Leonard is living with his wife and two children—Catherine 3½ and David Christopher 2—at 16 Park St., South Hadley, Mass. He is an Instructor in the History Dept. at Mt. Holyoke College.

Alfred Richtarik received his M.S. degree in Bacteriology from Syracuse University in September.

William N. Ross is an engineer at the University of California's radiation laboratory in Berkeley.

Dr. Wallace S. Hay is technical assistant to the Chief of Process Control at the Consolidated-Vultee Aircraft Co. plant in Ft. Worth, Tex.

Having left the editorial staff of the Washington Post, Thomas B. Schlesinger has been named Editor-in-Chief of Foreign Policy Briefs, fortnightly publication of the U. S. Department of State. His address is 5 Drury Lane, Alexandria, Va.

Samuel L. Thompson, Springfield (Mass.) lawyer, is a law instructor on the faculty of Western New England College.

Clayton K. Bishop started his new assignment as an instructor in psychology at Denison University in September. He is working on his doctorate at Indiana University.

Carlton Gregory is instructing in Bible and liberal arts at the Providence Bible Institute this year.

Dr. Jack W. Conklin is on the staff of the V.A. Hospital in Minneapolis.

A card from George Hindmarsh warned us that he has bought a six-room house in anticipation of the addition of a fifth family member in October. His home address is now 14 Meadow Brook Dr., Greenacres, Sumter, S. C. George buys timber and supervises logging shows for the U. S. Plywood Corp.

1945

Dr. Ralph Monroe was discharged in June from the Army Medical Corps after two years of service in Japan and Korea. A resident in internal medicine at the V. A. Hospital, he lives with his wife and two sons at 15 Evergreen Ave., Auburn-dale 66, Mass. Now in Japan is Dr. James P. Croce.

THE BRONZE STAR MEDAL went to Copt. Richard J. Frost just before leaving Korea this fall for release from active duty. It was awarded for meritorious service as assistant operations officer of the 73rd Engineer Combat Battalion. A geologist, Frost received his A.M. from Brown in 1950. (U.S. Army photo.)

FIRST KOREAN VETERAN to return from military service to the sales department of the Crosley Division, Avco Mfg. Corp., Peter Laird Leeb '42 has been appointed Philadelphia zone manager of refrigerator sales. A Marine Captain, he also saw action in the Marianas during World War II.

A third doctor, Frank H. Horton, has his own practice in Manchester, Conn. His address there is 63 Princeton St.

David D. Parker has been transferred from Providence to Worcester, Mass., where he is traffic manager for the N. E. Telephone and Telegraph Co.

A salesman for the Imperial Brass Mfg. Co., Julius M. Batenic lives at 4201 W. 47th St., Prairie Village, Kan.

Lewis W. Lees was an Alumni Office visitor in October with news of his discharge from the Navy and the arrival of his third son.

John L. Salladin is back from Beirut, Lebanon, and working in Camden, N. J., as an engineer for RCA-Victor.

With his Ph.D. degree from the University of Wisconsin, Clifford R. Noll, Jr., is now teaching Biological Chemistry at the University of Michigan. Another college instructor is Edmund T. Peckham, on the staff at Rice Institute, Houston, Tex.

Bertrand Spiotta has returned to the U. S. after several months in Europe. He is president of an export firm and was inspecting representative offices in England, France, Switzerland and Italy. He offers his assistance to any Brunonian "heading for Europe."

Robert F. Cashen, a petroleum engineer with Stanolind Oil and Gas Co., has been transferred from Shreveport, La., to Ellinwood, Kan.

A salesman with the Latrobe Steel Co., Charles T. Naylor works out of East Longmeadow, Mass., where he lives at 16 Ridge Rd.

The Rev. R. Cameron Fisher is Minister of the Packanack Community Church, Packanack Lake, N. J.

John P. Connelly, Jr., is assistant zone car distributor for the Cadillac Motor Car Division of General Motors. He lives at 19776 Ward St., Detroit 35, Mich.

A research chemist, Donald E. Andersen is with the E. I. du Pont de Nemours Jackson Laboratory in Deepwater, N. J.

Samuel B. Formal is now working at the Walter Reed Hospital in Washington. He was awarded his Ph.D. in microbiology from the Boston University School of Medicine in June.

George L. Cady, his wife and George, Jr., have moved to 254-08 75th Ave., Glen Oaks, Queens, NYC. He has a new position as electrical contractor with the MacNutt Electric Co., Inc., in New York.

Dick Downes has been named Acting Manager of the Taunton Inn in Taunton, Mass. He replaces his father who has taken over management of the Poughkeepsie Inn, Poughkeepsie, N. Y. Dick had been Assistant Manager at Taunton for several years.

Richard H. Wilson was sworn in as a member of the Connecticut bar in mid-summer and is now associated with Wilson, Hanna and Wanderer, Danbury law firm in which his father is a member.

Donald H. Gardner sent us his new address, 64 Sheridan Rd., Wellesley, Mass., where he has moved with his wife and daughter. He is a salesman for Standard Die Set Manufacturers, Inc., of Providence.

New Secretary of the Council for Technological Advancement is Henry D. Sharpe, Jr. Also a Trustee of this affiliate of the Machinery and Allied Products Institute, he was chosen because he has been "particularly identified with technological advancement."

WHEN THE GOVERNMENTAL RESEARCH ASSOCIATION holds its annual conference, it provides the opportunity for a Brown reunion. This year's session at Shawnee-on-Deleware was no exception, for six Brown men and one Pembroke were present. From left to right in the picture, are: Henry Stevenson, Jr., '38, staff member R. I. Public Expenditure Council; W. Robert Erickson '43, Director of Research, The Civic Federation, Chicago; Robert Balan '28, staff member R. I. PEC; Ruth Caagan '37, Research Supervisor, R. I. Department of Social Welfare; Tilden Mason '35, Senior Staff Member, Citizens Research Council of Michigan; Robert Pickup '36, Vice-President, Pennsylvania Economy League; Henry Connor '35, Director, Bureau of Municipal Research, Newark, N. J. (Pickup was chairman of a session while Erickson and Mason were also on the program.)

Dr. Frank S. Siniscalchi, osteopathic physician, opened his office in Lakewood, R. I., this summer.

Walter L. Cameron, Jr., choir director and organist at the Second Congregational Church in Palmer, Mass., has opened his piano instruction studio in that city. While at Brown he was accompanist for the Glee Club and directed the Band. He was President of the Brown Orchestra as well.

Released from the Navy after 23 months' active duty, most of which was as Assistant Legal Officer for the Commander of Destroyer Forces, Atlantic Fleet, Joe Macioci is practicing law in association with Judge Matthew Faerber in Newport, R. I.

1946

Henry W. Johnson, Jr., has joined the staff of the Shell Development Co., Emeryville, Calif., and is working in the field of analytical research. He was awarded his doctorate in Organic Chemistry from the University of Utah.

Dr. Robert E. Silverman is Assistant Professor of Psychology at New York University.

A chemist with the Stamford Research Laboratory of the American Cyanamid Co., John C. Petropoulos lives at 57 Cedar St., So. Norwalk, Conn.

With his B.S. Degree in Hotel Administration from Cornell, Harry L. Shepard has assumed the duties of assistant supervisor of the Operators' Quarters for the N. J. Bell Telephone Co.

Robert O'Donoghue is general manager of the Atlas Plywood Corp., Brunswick, Ga.

A group underwriter with the Travelers Insurance Co., John E. Lombardo lives in Hartford, Conn., at 44 Garden St.

Robert Porter is teaching senior History and Religion at Collegiate School in New York City.

Craig W. Moodie, Jr., who has been with the Armstrong Cork Co. in Lancaster, Pa., since graduation, is manager of the special promotion section of the Advertising and Promotion Department.

Charles F. Abbott, Jr., is in the T. V. Spot Sales department of the American Broadcasting Co.

Ivory Littlefield, Jr., is a Director of the Audubon Society of Rhode Island. He was elected Secretary of the R. I. Historical Society in September.

Lt. William M. Moody is aboard the USS Hailey (DD-556), c/o FPO, N. Y.

Harold W. Demopolus is practicing law in association with G. David Parrish in Miami, Fla.

E. Kenneth Bates, Jr., is copy chief for the Roland G. E. Ullman Organization, Philadelphia advertising agency.

After two years at Stetson University, Deland, Fla., where he compiled the best two season gridiron record in the college's history, Joe McMullen has accepted appointment as head of the Athletic Department and Football Coach at Washington and Jefferson College, Washington, Pa. His Stetson teams won 16 games, lost three and tied two.

Gordon Shillinglaw, who received his Ph.D. in economics from Harvard in June, is now associated with the management consulting firm of Joel Dean Associates in New York City. His address is Apt. 5B, 237 No. Broadway, Yonkers 3, N. Y.

Jack H. Schaller is an accountant with the New York City firm, Maxwell Schaller and Co.

1947

Two Classmates, Drs. Richard H. Bube and Edward L. Lind, now work side by side in the Chemo-Physics Section of the RCA Laboratories Division in Princeton, N. J. They are conducting research in the "development and understanding of electronically active solids."

John G. Parker is in the Naval Research Laboratory in Washington, D. C. He is a physicist in the Sound Division.

The Rev. Richard M. Morris has assumed his new duties as Missionary-in-charge at St. Thomas' Church, N. Syracuse, N. Y.

Emil Koledin operates his own contracting business, the E. Koledin Co., in Middlesex, Pa.

George J. Deutsch is an application engineer with the Clark Controller Co., Cleveland.

Lt. John T. Johnson is in Naval Supply aboard the USS Timmerman (EDD-828). He prefers mail at 23 Brighton Ave., Allston 34, Mass.

Norman Harris has joined the English Faculty at Johnson Teachers' College, Hardwick, Vt.

At Sub Group Four, USNS, Green Cove Springs, Fla., Stanley B. Kohler is kept pretty busy as 1. Information and Education Officer, 2. Training Officer, 3. Voting and Insurance Officer, 4. Recreation and Athletic Officer, 5. Landing Force Officer. It's "choice duty," he admits, but he wishes there were some Brown men around.

Elliott R. Andrews was recalled from Germany by the death of his mother earlier this fall.

John S. Goff has started his law practice in association with Coleman, Jamieson and Lamey of Billings, Montana. He was formerly in Denver.

Harry B. French and Robert E. Rodes won advanced degrees from Harvard in June. French was awarded an M.B.A. and Rodes received his LL.B.

George "Woody" Grimshaw is serving his sixth season as assistant coach of football at Tufts, handling the backs. He also tutors the Freshman basketball squad. He received a Master of Education degree from Tufts in June.

Robert A. Watkins is an engineer with the Zenith Radio Corp. in Chicago. He lives in Forest Park, Ill., at 1237 Elgin Ave.

1948

Having completed preliminary requirements for his doctorate from the University of Chicago, William T. Bluhm is an Instructor in Government at the University of Rochester. He is working on his Ph.D. thesis at the same time.

Edwin K. Fox left the U. S. Department of State in September for a position in the International Banking Division of the Irving Trust Co., New York City.

Frank C. Kenyon, Jr., has been transferred to the St. Louis office of the Dow Chemical Co.

Four new Class doctors are: Max Bloom and J. Merrill Gibson, Jr., both interning at R. I. Hospital; Stanley R. Mayberg, interning at Los Angeles County General Hospital; and Ben-Zion Taber, interning at Cook County Hospital, Chicago.

Bill Dwyer is teaching Science and coaching track and cross country at Rye (N. Y.) High School. Another teacher is Kenneth P. Blake, Jr. He is at St. Stephen's Episcopal School, Austin, Tex., teaching History.

Staff manager for the Prudential Insurance Co. in Westbrook, Me., is Carlton E. Mendell.

RALPH I. WILCOX '48 has been appointed senior staffman in the auto tire department of Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., with headquarters in Akron. He had been field representative in Providence after earlier duties elsewhere in New England.

The sympathy of Classmates is sent to Robert W. Grout whose mother, Mrs. Harold A. Grout, died Sept. 25, 1952.

Some Class service addresses are: S/Sgt. John H. Campbell, 3275 Pers. Proc. Sq., Parks AFB, Calif.; 1st Lt. Warren M. Clark, Qtrs #3, Ft. Hayes, Columbus 18, Ohio; Lt. (jg) Frederick J. Cofer, USS Carpellotti (APD-136), c/o FPO, NYC; Lt. (jg) R. Gordon McGovern, USS Arnold J. Isbell (DD-869), c/o FPO, San Francisco; Lt. Domenic A. Vavala, School of Aviation Medicine, Randolph AFB, Tex.

Berton F. Hill has a fellowship at the University of Chicago where he is working for his Ph.D. in Zoology.

Thomas D. Pucci received his law degree from Boston University in September.

Lt. (jg) Kevin Cash went to Thule, Greenland, last summer aboard the USS Gordius (ARL-36) when it participated in "Operation Sunac." He was in charge of the Navigation and Communications Division. More than that, he was editor of Sea Fever, which provided a pictorial record of the summer voyage.

Arthur Palmer, Jr., is giving some Extension courses at Brown this fall in the field of Political Science. Arthur, who is running a sporting goods store at the entrance of the tunnel, and his partner won the doubles title in the Rhode Island Clay Court tennis championships this summer. He is President of the R. I. Tennis Association and Brown tennis coach.

Along with news of his March wedding, Alan L. Sack notified us that he is an account executive with the American Mail Advertising Co. of Boston.

For taking second in the high jump and pole vault events at the Ft. Devens, Mass., track meet last April, Cpl. Robert Sleicher received two trophies. Bob was Captain of the track team at Brown. He has served with the 24th Signal Service Battalion at Devens since September 1950.

Raymond E. Kassir graduated from the Harvard Business School in June. A Harvard Ph.D. degree-holder is Robert A. Day.

A salesman with Rust Craft Publishers, Philip B. Wilcox lives at 5 Oak St., Concord, N. H.

In June, Lewis A. Shaw was elected Secretary of the Alumni Association of Classical High School, Springfield, Mass. Lew is teaching an upper class course at Western New England College this year.

Anthony R. Manyak was awarded a Master's degree in Chemistry by Clark University in June.

William M. Peterson is studying English Literature at Wadham College in Oxford University on a Fulbright scholarship this year. He is a member of the Faculty at the University of North Carolina.

Thomas Green is a member of the faculty of the Acton (Mass.) High School. He is also completing work at Boston University for a Master's degree in guidance.

Martin Monlick was awarded his Bachelor of Laws degree at Harvard in June.

Don Wiley writes from Honolulu, Hawaii, that he has "licked" his arthritis by moving to a drier climate. He is now teaching in the Music School of the Palama Settlement House, which is located in the heart of Honolulu's worst slum district. He has classes in piano and theory and a few adult evening groups. As well as teaching Western music and culture, he encourages the natives to keep up their Oriental music. "So," he writes, "I am gradually acquiring a knowledge of Japanese, Chinese, Filipino, Samoan, Puerto Rican and Hawaiian music which is probably of more value to me than the Western ways which I transmit to the kids."

Harrie W. Mallery is a geologist with the N. J. Zinc Co. During 1950-52, he was a graduate student and instructor at Syracuse University.

At Home on the Ice

IT SOMETIMES GETS as cold as 35 degrees below zero, it floats all over the Arctic Ocean, and it has the unromantic name of T-3, but it's home to Robert D. Cotell '42.

A geophysicist employed by the Cambridge (Mass.) Research Laboratories of the U. S. Air Force, Cotell returned in June after 80 days "aboard" the ice island about 100 miles from the North Pole. As one of a group of nine men who set up this first outpost of continuous information on polar weather, Cotell investigated the physical make-up of the centuries-old glacier formed originally in the mountains of Greenland. T-3 is about 10 miles long, five miles wide and 200 feet thick. The weather is comparable in dryness to that of New Mexico. No one gets sick on T-3—that is, unless someone from the States brings a cold and spreads it around.

A First Lieutenant in the Signal Corps during World War II, Cotell was planning a return assignment on T-3. Meanwhile, the colleagues he left behind are keeping everything "on ice" for him.

On Fire Each Noon

EVERY DAY at noon for a week Walter Covell '38 had a fire in his house. Right on Exchange Place in Providence, too.

He was a member of a nice but careless family of three which accidentally set the little building ablaze, bringing out the Fire Department to put it out. It was all in the interests of Fire Prevention Week, and Covell (professionally known on TV as the Man of 1001 Faces) played the part of Henry, head of the Had-a-Fire family. One day he dropped a cigarette into a wastebasket, another day he overloaded the lighting circuit, again he played with matches.

The Had-a-Fire family was introduced to the public on the first day of Fire Prevention Week when the Mayor was reading a proclamation from the City Hall steps. They interrupted by hailing him from the roof of the Woolworth Building nearby. Firemen swung an aerial ladder over that way to bring them down to plead for a chance to stay in town. They were given a week's probation as occupants in the little house on the Mall, where punctually they "had a fire" each day.

1949

William R. Gregg is sales representative for John Sexton & Co., manufacturing wholesale grocers, and lives at 2 Bradley St., Burlington, Vt.

Bill Seamans made a two months' tour of Brazil during the summer, his articles being syndicated in North American newspapers. With his degree from the Columbia School of Journalism, Bill has been assigned as an Assistant Editor with the McGraw-Hill Publishing Co. His address: 154 Pearsall Dr., Mt. Vernon, N. Y.

Another Columbia "graduate" is Norman S. Mayberg. He received an M.S. in Accounting from the Business School in June and is a field auditor for the Borden Co.

Pfe. William M. Thomson has been in Germany for 14 months with the 97th Signal Op. Battalion. He was recently awarded a certificate from Command Signal School at Amsbach, Ger.

Two Class lawyers are President H. Calvin Coolidge and Alfred R. Crowe. Cal is an associate with Daily, Dines, Ross and O'Keefe in Chicago; Al is with Crapo, Clifford, Prescott and Bullard in New Bedford, Mass.

Andrew E. Miles is a Lecturer in Biology at Assumption College, University of Western Ontario, Windsor, Ont., Canada.

Donald J. Davidson was discharged from the service in the summer and has returned to his position as engineer with the Gorham Manufacturing Co. in Providence.

Two engineers in California are Alton V. Hooper, with the Southern California Cooperative Wind Tunnel in Pasadena, and Edward H. Mosher, with the Commercial Casting Co. in Hollywood.

Harris W. Arnold was appointed district manager in Providence of the Berkshire Life Insurance Co. in October. Another Classmate in insurance, George T. LaBonne, Jr., is attending the University of Connecticut Law School in Hartford while continuing his duties as a life underwriter with the National Life Insurance Co. of Vermont.

The sympathy of Classmates is extended to Frederick C. Hailer, Jr., whose father died in Boston, Sept. 11, 1952.

Ed Holden is co-captain of the Quonset Flyers, Naval Air Station football team.

Edward D. Fisher has joined Northrop Aircraft's Guided Missile Division in Hawthorne, Calif., as a lab analyst. He is working on a new long-term project and lives in Los Angeles at 3559 W. Florence Ave.

First Lt. Raymond E. Russell USMC stopped by the Alumni Office before he was completely "separated" from the service. Back home after a year in Korea, Ray told us about his son, Steven, now a year and a half old. In Korea he had seen Classmate Bob Shea (now at Harvard Business School) and Brunonians Emil Koledin '47 and George Warren '45. At present Ray is staying with his wife's folks at 61 Ardmore Ave., Providence.

A reserve executive with R. H. Macy, Inc., George W. Murphy is living in Brooklyn, N. Y., at 205 Clinton Ave.

Released from the service last January, Henry J. Lash is writing advertising copy for the S. S. White Dental Manufacturing Co. in Philadelphia.

Paul Yelavich, Jr., is Manager of "Oceanview Courts," resort motel at Point Pleasant Beach, N. J.

Management non-com at the Base hospital, Camp Pickett, Va., is Sgt. Paul C. Abramson. He is one of the few enlisted men in the Army holding such a position, a relatively new department in service hospitals.

The Rev. John T. Townsend entered Harvard Divinity School this fall. He was ordained an Episcopal deacon last spring after graduating from Wycliffe Theological College and had part-time charge of a mission in Cranston, R. I.

Lt. William T. O'Connor, Jr., is intelligence officer of Hq. Squadron, Fifth Air Force in Korea.

On July 1, Dr. Leroy D. Aronson started his internship at the R. I. Hospital. He received his M. D. from Albany Medical College in June.

Ed Litchfield is assistant superintendent of buildings for the Aetna Life Insurance Co. in Hartford.

A photographer with the 3rd Infantry Division, Cpl. Stephen E. Weil has been in Korea since August 1951.

With the planning department of the Electric Boat Division of the General Dynamics Corp., Myles Clegg works and lives in Mystic, Conn.

With the Federal Telephone and Radio Corp., John E. Hoffman has moved to Ridgewood, N. J., where his address is 323 Steilen Ave.

Jean B. Levesque is a sanitary engineer with the Veteran's Administration in Washington, D. C.

Michael J. Skrypa received his Master's degree in chemistry from Clark University in June.

Still with Interstate Dept. Stores, Edward Vincent has been transferred to Des Moines, Iowa, where his address is 3112 46th Ave.

Haig Krekorian is a department head at the General Air Conditioning Corp. plant in Los Angeles.

Lt. Tom Dinell was recently assigned as Budget and Fiscal Officer to the Post Comptroller's Office, Frankfurt, Germany. In civilian life he was attached to the Bureau of the Budget, Executive Office of the President, Washington, D. C. His wife lives at 6 Dover Ct., Rockville Center, L. I., N. Y.

Lt. Theodore F. Low, an engineering officer with the 96th QM Battalion in Korea, was at home in Providence in August. He was a U.S. Naval Midshipman during World War II.

June Harvard Law School graduates include Charles E. Brown, H. Calvin Coolidge, Raymond R. Cross, Walter N. Kaufman, Alfred S. Koffler, Norman B. Silk and Peirce B. Smith. Kaufman has become a legal assistant to John M. Houston, National Labor Relations Board member.

CHRYSLER GRAD: Richard B. Armstrong '50, son of Ralph A. Armstrong '17, has received his degree as Master of Automotive Engineering from the Chrysler Institute. He's been assigned to the corporation's Engineering Division in Detroit.

Cross is with Nutter, McClennan and Fish in Boston. Silk is serving as law clerk for the Chief Justice of the Mass. Supreme Judicial Court. Alan S. Flink received his law degree from Tufts.

Robert E. Knights was awarded his Master of Education degree from Harvard this year.

With his degree in chiropractic, Joseph P. Rubolino has opened his office for the practice of physical therapy in Brockton, Mass.

Dominick Sperduti is teaching Spanish at the B. M. C. Durfee High School in Fall River, Mass.

Robert A. Pearson is a new member of the research staff at the duPont Company's Organic Chemicals Department, Deepwater, N. J.

Dr. Constantine Anagnostopoulos has joined the research department of Monsanto Chemical Company's Merrimac Division in Everett, Mass. He received his Ph.D. in chemistry from Harvard last June.

James F. Collins, formerly of the U. S. Marine Corps, was planning to enter Harvard Business School this fall.

A production engineer with the Sandia Corp. in Albuquerque, Bill Fowler has seen Hal Kinne who is in New Mexico with the military.

Kenneth T. MacLean is teaching at the Alexander Hamilton High School in Los Angeles, Calif.

Before he was discharged from the Army this fall, Sgt. Paul C. Abramson had it all arranged that personnel at Camp Pickett, Va., would continue to be entertained by the Broadway stars he and his father "introduced" to camp and hospital audiences. Mr. Nat Abramson is Director of the WOR-Mutual Entertainment Bureau and he co-operated with son Paul in securing top-notch performers for the camp shows. Our Classmate was at Pickett with the 2114-1 Medical Detachment for almost two years.

As passenger representative with United States Lines in New York City, David Murray books passages and takes care of all the sailings of the SS America and SS United States to and from Europe. He's still commuting from 119 Donaldson St., Highland Park, N. J.

1950

Roger W. Kaufman drove across the country in June to Seattle where he is public information director for the Seattle Safety Council. He and his wife are living at 1554 16th Ave. N, Seattle 2.

A rewrite man with the Associated Press in Albany, N. Y., Daniel S. Schechter prefers mail at his home address, 601 115th St., NYC 25. He received his Master's at Columbia Journalism School in June.

Along with his pledge payment to the Alumni Fund, Albert G. Davidson, Jr., wrote that he was celebrating his second anniversary in the Navy on Nov. 14, 1952. A photographer 3/c, he is aboard the USS Mississippi (EAG-128). Earlier

Scout in the Army

DESPITE MANY an unkind reference by drill sergeants impatient with his rookies, the Army apparently does believe in Boy Scouts. Corp. Albert E. Mink '51 can tell you so after what happened to him.

A successful Scout leader while he was an undergraduate, with a particular flair for Indian lore, Mink plans to go into Scouting professionally after his military service is over. In the mean time, the Army has given him the ideal job: When he was assigned to Augsburg, Germany, with the 43rd Division, Mink was given the job of running a Scout troop for the children of Army personnel. From a garbled newspaper reference to "a den for the mothers," we also gather he has set up a Cub pack as well. The Army even granted permission for him to attend an international Scouting Jamboree in Scotland this year.

TRAINEE OF THE WEEK at Fort Belvoir, Forrest O. Rothbun, Jr., '54 topped his class of basic training recently and became aide to Brig. Gen. Albert C. Lieber. He conferred with the General on proposed improvements in the training procedure he's experienced. (U.S. Signal Corps photo.)

he served on the USS Missouri and the USS Newport News, traveling extensively in Mediterranean and Caribbean waters.

Other Classmates in service include: 1st Lt. Lester R. Allen, Jr., Public Information Officer with the 24th Infantry Division in Japan; 2nd Lt. Arthur P. Trewhella, attending Medical Field Service School at Ft. Sam Houston, Tex.

Jim Hebden has been discharged from service and reports his civilian mailing address, 5416 Central Ave., Indianapolis, Ind.

Lincoln Barber, Jr., is a credit investigator with the National Shawmut Bank of Boston.

Burton C. Staugaard resigned his position as Director of the Medical Photographic Dept. at the R. I. Hospital to continue studies for his Master's degree in zoology at the University of Rhode Island.

Edward C. Bryant is teaching Mathematics at the Roosevelt School in Malden, Mass.

Herbert E. Torberg is a mechanical engineer with the Kollmorgen Optical Co. in Northampton, Mass.

Paul D. Lipsitt received his LL.B. from Boston University in August and has passed his Massachusetts bar exams.

John P. Bourcier, a Senior at Vanderbilt Law School, is assistant managing-editor of the school's Law Review. He is also a member of the Law Student Council and of Phi Alpha Delta, legal fraternity.

Paul K. Fisher, Jr., is art supervisor for the schools of Bozeman, Mont.

A test engineer with Pratt and Whitney Aircraft, Lewis D. Emerson is living at the YMCA in Hartford, Conn. He was discharged from the service in September.

Lt. Kenneth F. Provost USMC is now stationed on Formosa. His wife and year-old daughter are living at 516 3rd Ave., West Haven, Conn.

Leo D. Smith is buyer and secretary of the Smith Hardware Co. in Cranston, R. I.

Ens. Philip L. Kenny received his commission in October after completing the OCS course at Newport. He received his M.B.A. from Harvard Business School in June.

Ellsworth A. "Jack" Shiebler is program director and disc jockey for Long Island's newest and most powerful non-directional radio station, WALKAM-FM, in Patchogue. A WBRU veteran, Jack worked for WHIM in Providence before heading south. He lives with his wife at 29 S. Country Rd., Bellport, L. I.

Ens. Curt Lohrey wrote in October: "Just a short note to inform you of my change of address and to let those who might be interested know that I'm still alive, married and a proud pop. This coming June I expect to be a civilian again and looking for a job."

Donald Vieweg is Vice-President of the Rhode Island Manuscript Club.

A physicist with the Atomic Energy Commission at Oak Ridge, Tenn., John A. Anderson lives at 123 W. Vanderbilt Dr.

Until sometime this fall, 2nd Lt. Richard E. Rodman was scheduled to attend the U. S. Army Signal Corps school at Ft. Monmouth, N. J. He was commissioned at Ft. Riley, Kan., last March.

A long May letter from Zach Morfogen related his service experiences, mostly in Germany where he has been since March 1, 1952. As a Sergeant Major with the 311th Engineer Construction Group he is learning a little bit about administration, personnel management and office psychology which he feels will be "an asset in civilian life." "Civilian life," incidentally, is scheduled for Jan. 10, 1953. Making the most of sight-seeing opportunities in Europe, Zach has "managed reunions" with Classmates Don Heiferman and Ed Ettele, and he was hoping to contact Don Aronson and Roy Fidler.

Lt. Comdr. Ralph E. Endicott is about in the middle of an 11-month course of instruction at the Naval Postgraduate School, Monterey, Calif.

Lt. Henry A. Ferrari, USMC, married on the Fourth of July, 1951, spent his first wedding anniversary in Korea.

As Conceded in "Time"

A COUPLE OF PEOPLE did something about Time's failure to identify Brown as an Ivy League college in its survey-book of American alumni. One was a Brown Daily Herald writer, who said: "Where does young (1923) upstartish Time get off snubbing old (1764) historic Brown University?" The other chap was Lewis A. Shaw '48 of Springfield, Mass. He used the Herald editorial as fresh autumn ammunition in his running campaign.

It reached the right desk—that of James A. Linen, Publisher of Time. Early in November he said in one of his periodical letters to the readers:

"When I wrote you last spring about Time's book 'They Went to College,' I may have indicated that it was the last word on the U. S. college graduate. Now it appears that the book is, in one respect at least, only the second-last word. The book (and Time's review of it as well) called Brown University one of '20 famous Eastern colleges,' failed to include it as a member of the Ivy League. Brown is in the Ivy League, and the editors of the Brown Daily Herald have now had the last word."

As of Sept. 15, Norman J. Rustigian was receiving mail at La Congrégation de Notre-Dame de Siou, L'Université de Louvain, Louvain, Belgium.

Manager of the California office of the Firemen's Mutual Insurance Co., Bruce M. Sherwin lives in San Gabriel, Calif., at 6625 No. Karin Pl.

E. Elliot Smith is Manager of Glen's Gift Shop in Arlington, Va. He lives in Bethesda, Md., at 407 Fairfax Rd.

Rod Scheffer was discharged from the Army in July after a well-marked service career: Drafted on United Nations Day 1950, he arrived in Korea on April Fool's Day 1951 (also his birthday), and arrived back in the United States on Valentine's Day 1952. The whole thing sounds like just one holiday after another! This year the former Varsity soccer captain is teaching and coaching at Mt. Hermon School.

In the spring, John J. Harrington was appointed R. I. State probation counsellor in the Newport area. He is a graduate of the New York School of Social Work.

Robert H. Sargent is still a chemist for C. H. Dexter and Sons in Windsor Locks, Conn. His boss is Fred McLeod '36. Bob has bought a house in Windsor Locks at 28 School St.

First Lt. Larry G. Copeland USMC was back in the States in May after six months aboard the USS Sarasota in the Mediterranean. Two new service addresses are: Lt. (jg) Richard W. Arnold, Jr., Staff Comservant, Naval Base, Norfolk, Va., and Lt. (jg) Alfred G. Granieri, USS Becuna (SS-319), c/o FPO, N. Y.

Capt. Owen J. Carroll is advising the Republic of Korea on combat operations. Overseas a year now, he and fellow-Brunonian Maj. Samuel C. Crooks '48 are members of the U. S. Military Advisory Group in Korea (KMAG). Crooks was back in the States in the summer.

The July 5 number of the Saturday Evening Post contained a picture of Pete Lawson. A Yale Divinity School student, Pete was doing field work in Utah and was pictured in an article entitled "God Sent Them to the Slums." He supported himself out there by driving a taxi. This summer Pete was continuing his work in Harlem.

Daniel W. Moran has been discharged from the Navy and is teaching at the Highland School in Lynn, Mass.

A letter from Ens. Jason C. Becker enclosed a new address submitted with "some degree of permanence." It is: USS Gilbert Islands (CVE-107), c/o FPO, NYC.

Charles R. Jacobson was awarded his Master of Science degree in chemistry from Lehigh University in June. He is going on for his doctorate.

A new English teacher at the Athol (Mass.) High School is Walter Mendoza.

Sgt. Benton B. Byers was awarded the Bronze Medal for his service in Korea. At Camp Breckenridge, Ky., in the summer, he was expecting to be discharged this fall.

George Menard has started his new duties as football, baseball and hockey coach at the Berkshire School, Sheffield, Mass. An outstanding athlete at Burrillville High and at Brown, he caught for the Palm Beach team of the Florida International League during the summer.

June recipients of M.B.A. degrees from Harvard Business School are Stanley S. Gans, Laurence N. Gross, Frederick H. Horlbeck, Jr., Thomas R. Nye.

James A. Vendettoli, Jr., was awarded his Bachelor of Theology degree cum laude from Harvard in June.

With his Master of Science degree in Bacteriology from the University of Maine, William D. Lawton has accepted a position at the Lederle Laboratories, Pearl River, N. Y. His address there is 17 Hunt Ave.

Curvin J. Trone has joined the Management Planning and Analysis staff of the Kaiser Aluminum and Chemical Corp., Oakland, Calif.

Lt. Haven Newton is attached to the 25th Infantry Division in Korea. The Combat Infantryman Badge was awarded to Cpl. Edward Fink in August. An aidman, our Classmate has served with the 7th Infantry Division in Korea. A new Army Second Lieutenant is Laurence N. Gross. He is with the Air Materiel Command at Wright-Patterson AFB, Ohio.

A civilian again after two years with the Marines, James S. Cook is working at the First National Bank of Boston. His residence in Boston is at 26 Mt. Vernon St. A First Lieutenant and rifle platoon commander in Korea, our Classmate reports that he managed to receive the BAM "even there."

Charles L. "Chuck" Nelson has left his position as physical education director at the New Bedford Y.M.C.A. to serve as backfield coach of football under Joe McMullen '46 at Washington and Jefferson College.

A postcard from Bill Walsh told of his projected year in Paris to study languages. Already he has met fellow-Brunonians Paul Daube '50, Gene Scofield '44 and (Dean) Robert W. Kenny '25. Bill's address: 1 Place St. Sulpice, Paris 6, France.

Irving A. Farrell, Jr., has been named to a teaching post in the Caribou (Maine) High School. His subject is Latin.

Capt. Kenneth A. Clark, having been recalled to active duty with the U. S. Air Force, is Chief of the Production Branch of the Wichita Regional Office of the Southern Air Procurement District.

Donald C. Hutchison has assumed his new duties as Manager of the Industrial Bureau in the Springfield (Mass.) Chamber of Commerce.

An OCS instructor at the Newport (R. I.) Naval School, Lt. (jg) John R. Allen lives at 63 Marchant St. He was formerly aboard the USS Benner.

This fall Donald R. Holroyd started his new duties as English teacher in the junior high division of Gorton High School, Warwick, R. I.

Ernest Ward, Jr., was discharged from the Army as a Master Sergeant in May and is in the underwriting department of the Automobile Mutual Insurance Co. of America in Providence.

Assistant Manager of the J. J. New-

R. DOUGLAS DAVIS '41 learned how to cook in "sheer self-defense" while a Navy supply officer. Recently he served several hundred guests at a church barbeque in Cincinnati, where he was also Brawn Club Secretary. "The Cincinnati Post" took his picture and wrote a highly flattering feature about his skill. His departure for a new job in New York was not a consequence of such publicity.

berry Store in Portsmouth, N. H., is Harlan Ford.

Lt. (jg) Richard Hatch is with the Naval Air Force at Quonset Point, R. I.

Clifford N. Lenox is studying at the Boston University School of Public Relations.

Donald V. Lathrop is in his last year at Tufts Medical School. He is keeping busy in Phi Chi medical fraternity and with the Tufts Medical Journal. He plans to train in neuropsychiatry with a view toward teaching and research as well as practice.

William Van Alen, who received his M.A. in Geology from Lehigh University this year, is now married and working for Stanolind, Inc., in Wyoming.

1951

Marine 2nd Lt. Charles T. Williamson was awarded the Silver Star in October "for conspicuous gallantry and intrepidity in action against the enemy." 2nd Lt. Roland H. MacDowell is another Marine Classmate in Korea.

Jim Keat, who received his Master's degree at Columbia School of Journalism in June, is a reporter for the New York Herald Tribune. His current assignment is to the financial news department where he is "junior man on the banking run."

Bob Brown is administrative assistant to the city-manager in Lawrence, Kan. Last year he studied in a city-manager training program at Kansas University in that city and now has a fellowship, supplemented by his salary check, while he works for a Master's degree. Bob writes that he enjoyed seeing the Quadrangle last June: "My only regret is that I was born five years too soon."

Carl K. Kuester was commissioned a Second Lieutenant in October following his graduation from the Army Engineer Center OCS at Ft. Belvoir, Va.

Donald G. Rich is a research engineer with the Carrier Corp. in Syracuse, N. Y.

Harold R. Steen, Jr., is still with the N. E. Telephone and Telegraph Co. but has been transferred to Taunton, Mass., where he is traffic manager.

Samuel J. Cashman is teaching Math and Science at Foxboro (Mass.) Junior High School.

Second Lt. Joseph H. DesRoches was in Little Creek, Va., in November for "Operation Sea Scape," joint Army-Navy amphibious exercise. Our Classmate is a platoon leader in the mortar company of the 278th Infantry Regimental Combat Team, stationed at Camp Drum, N. Y.

Art Thebado, with the N. Y. advertising agency of Benton and Bowles, was touring the country this fall for the "Sugar Crisp" account.

Ens. Alan S. Calnan, aboard the LST 1122, c/o FPO, San Francisco, thinks that "LST duty is pretty nice." Al is headed this month for a 10 months' tour in Korean waters.

When Gordon Dewart sent us notice of an address change in October, he said that he was being activated by the USNR. He prefers mail at Stonehedge Place, Andover, Mass.

Alan Ackerman, who is training instructors for the Quartermaster Corps at Ft. Lee, Va., thinks that a list of "Brown Men in Service" would be helpful to alumni arriving at a new base. He has met Lt. Richard Posner '48, a weapons instructor at the same camp. Al was a member of the undefeated (as of Oct. 28) Ft. Lee football team.

Charles H. Frankenbach, Jr., has joined Pearsall and Frankenbach, Inc., Westfield, N. J., realty firm. Our Classmate returned in September from St. Paul, Minn., where he completed a 13 months' training course in fire, marine and casualty insurance.

Continuing his studies for the priesthood, Henry G. Bowen, Jr., is attending North American College in Rome.

When Ens. F. C. Caswell, Jr., returned from six months in the Mediterranean he found three-month-old Ellen Scott Caswell waiting for him. Our Classmate's address is 17A Marchant St., Newport, R. I.

EDWARD L. PALMER '38 has been elected Vice-President in the banking division of The New York Trust Company. Formerly Assistant Vice-President, he has been associated with the bank's credit and development activities in a group of nine States in the South and Southwest. He has been with the company since 1941, except for four years in the Navy with various units of the air arm including the staff of the Commander Air Force Pacific Fleet.

Three Classmates have been selected by the U. S. Navy to attend the Submarine School in New London, Conn., beginning Jan. 5, 1953. They are Ensigns Robert M. Barlow, Harley R. Derleth and John A. Richardson. Commdr. Herman E. Miller USN, of the Brown NROTC unit, noted that three men from one college class is an unusually high number to be chosen for a class at the school.

Bennett Alpert reported in this fall from the Naval Hospital Corps School at Portsmouth, Va., where he expected to be for several months.

With his M.A. from the University of Michigan this year, George S. Parker has taken a position with the Gilman Engineering and Manufacturing Corp. in Janesville, Wisc.

Alvan K. Gustafson has a Master's in engineering from Yale and is a field superintendent in New York City for the Raymond Concrete Pile Co.

A Boston geologist is Lawrence A. Gorman. He is with the Ground Water Branch of the U. S. Geological Survey.

Stuart B. Allen is back at Brown this semester. He was discharged last April after a year and a half's active service with the 43rd Division of the National Guard.

A technical salesman with Union Carbide and Carbon Corp., William P. Emerson is still receiving mail at 39 Coolidge St., Larchmont, N. Y.

Richard S. Parker is Pastor of the South Meriden (Conn.) Methodist Church while continuing his studies at Yale Divinity School.

Ens. Robert M. Barlow is now aboard the USS Bottineau (APA-235), c/o FPO, N. Y. Another Class Ensign is Gordon R. Bryan, Jr. His wife notified us from Portsmouth, Va., that he is on the USS Jervis (DD-799), c/o FPO, San Francisco.

Lewis A. Waterman, Jr., is back at Brown as Assistant Purchasing Agent. He recently completed a stint in the service, before which he worked in the University Dining Rooms office.

The sympathy of Classmates is extended to Pasquale Panaggio, Jr., whose mother, Mrs. Sarah C. Panaggio, died June 27, 1952. Leonard '52 is another son.

Joe Fazzano was an official delegate to the 100th anniversary convention of Phi Kappa Psi national fraternity in Pittsburgh in June.

Burton D. Alpert received the American Spirit of Honor medal when he was graduated from recruit training at the U. S. Naval Training Center, Bainbridge, Md. He attended fire control school at Bainbridge after graduation in June.

John J. Dee has moved back to his home city, Springfield, Mass., where he is area representative for the Beltone Hearing Aid Co.

Donald G. Rich received his Master of Science degree from Harvard in June.

Ens. David L. Thurrott is stationed at Quonset Point, R. I., with the Naval Air Corps. A new Second Lieutenant is Geoffrey J. Blacker who graduated in September from OCS at the Army's Engineer Center, Ft. Belvoir, Va.

John Lindsey is teaching social studies at the Norwell (Mass.) High School.

A salesman with Sylvania Electric Products in Salem, Mass., Jim Sutherland lives in Melrose at 9 Crescent Ave.

Norman D'Andrea is in his second year at Boston University Law School.

Herbert J. Solomon is Assistant Manager of Enterprise Stores, Inc., Haverhill, Mass.

After completing his courses at Malden AFB, Mo., A/C Arthur L. Guerin spent a few days' leave at home in Narragansett, R. I., before reporting to Goodfellow AFB, Tex., where he is taking flight training.

Second Lieutenant Garrison G. Lotz received his commission in September from Ft. Riley (Kan.) OCS.

Charles J. Casey has been transferred to the Plant Engineering Dept. of the Monsanto Chemical Company's plastics division in Springfield, Mass.

Second Lieutenant John F. Morrissey, Jr., received his commission upon completion of a 26-week course at the Engineer OCS, Ft. Belvoir, Va.

Richard C. Barton is senior accounting clerk with the Bell Aircraft Corp. in Wheatfield, N. Y. He lives in Buffalo at 90 Woodward Ave.

Pvt. Allen H. Chatterton is serving in Japan with the 1st Cavalry Division which is being trained for service in Korea.

NEXT YEAR'S SOPHOMORES: First row, left to right—Bob Kovalchick, Dick Barjeson, Tom Favero, Jim McGuinness (co-capt.), Tommy Thompson (co-capt.), Archie Williams, Sam Barr, Jim Lahr. Second row—Marvin Wilenzik, Bill Lewis, Bob Jahnsan, Tom Sturtevant, Frank Foley, Bob ZonGranda, Guy Hughes, Norm Lasca, Zane Anderson, Dick Andersen. Third row—Matt Bolger (head coach), Steve Farster, Jim Berrier, Charles Merritt, Les Peavey, Wayne Gerauld, Bill Cronin, Bob Demaris, Bill Parter, Joe Kralik, Jack Heffernon (backfield coach). Fourth row—Marshall Horadeu (end coach), Lou Reese, Barry Greene, Philip Hamilton, Tam Lyons, Bill SanSoucie, Pete Bartuska, Joe Kinter, George Tansey, Bill Demchak, Roger Singer, Dick Coveny. (Photo courtesy Brown Football program.)

The Freshmen

(Continued from page 15)

questionably impressed with the power and precision with which the Cubs outclassed the opposition. It was a scrappy, well-balanced, well-drilled squad.

But Coach Matt Bolger requests a little conservatism in hopes for the future. The Freshman team is not "loaded," he maintains. "I think we have an end squad that will help the Varsity," he said, and he might have pointed out that this was a weak spot in the Varsity picture. "The line is small and a year away from Varsity competition. Backs? Well, maybe . . ."

It must be confessed that, to the casual spectator in the stands, the backs looked pretty good. Tommy Thompson's record of scoring 14 of the team's 21 touchdowns focussed attention on him, naturally. His ability to fake at high speed is one of the things which made it hard to bring him down, and he can hold onto a pass, but for Varsity consideration he could use a little more weight: he's 155 and stands 5-7. He added a few pounds during the season, we hear. He could be the sort of breakaway runner the Bears have needed lately.

Thompson was the obvious star, but he had a team with him that blocked and opened holes. There were three men who fed him touchdown passes: Lyons, Demchak, and Tansey. Archie Williams, another halfback, is a sharp performer himself, scoring four touchdowns and going even better on defense where he is a pass thief and punt-return threat. Up in the line are such men as Jim McGuinness, a big tackle who goes both ways; Dick Borjeson, the third of that Worcester tribe which has already provided two regulars in recent years; Joe Kinter, a boy who played guard for Vic Fusia in high school; the centers, Les Peavey and Roger Singer. The ends, on whom particular attention has been lavished, are Bob Kovalchick, Pete Bartuska, Bill Lewis, Phil Hamilton, and Wayne Gerould.

We've reported on the first two games—against Worcester Academy, a team undefeated last year, and Rhode Island, where football continues on the upgrade. Then the men had worked with each other enough to function as a unit. A year ago, the Cubs ruined a long winning streak of Cheshire Academy's by nosing it out. This fall the schoolboys promised to be strong again, with a line averaging 202 and a backfield going 197. But it was the first contest for Cheshire, and the Bruins got an early jump on them. Thompson got the first of his three scores from 10 yards out and Bill Johnson, fullback, cracked over from the one after Bill Demchak and Pete Bartuska had combined on a long pass to set it up. The third touchdown of the half was a beauty—Thompson for 70 yards through tackle. After Cheshire led off in the second half, Tansey passed to Thompson for 50 yards, and the final contribution was by Williams (11 yards).

Yale scored first at New Haven, but the Cubs found the combination in the second period when Thompson scampered 50 yards and scored again on a 30-yard pass play. Tommy ran back the second-half kickoff for 80 yards and completed his day with a fourth touchdown by galloping 30 yards in the same third period. Yale had previously lost to Cornell and tied Columbia.

Harvard had lost only one game (to Andover) but had beaten a good club in Dartmouth's Freshmen. But, though holding the Cubs to a single tally in the first half, fell apart later. Williams demoralized their passing attack by intercepting three times in the third period. He also contributed two touchdowns and had another called back after he'd gone 65 yards on a punt return. Demchak was running the team and passed to Williams twice for scores. Thompson ran three times for touchdowns, while Cronin bulled one yard for his after a fumble recovery.

Yes, the Freshmen looked strong. They have some talent. But, most of all, we liked their spirit. Coaches Bolger and Heffernan did a good job.

Cause Célèbre

ELIZABETH DONNAN'S ARTICLE in the March New England Quarterly deals with the controversy at Brown in which President E. Benjamin Andrews was the central figure. The title: "Nineteenth Century Cause Célèbre." The editor of the monthly Reader's Guide to Books, published by the Providence Public Library, remarks: "His persecution sounds much like 1952 witch hunting."

A Special Report on '52

THE FOLLOWING INFORMATION is based on latest records in the Alumni Office. The fact that the Class of 1952 numbers over 600 members points up the problem of recording Class items and explains the brevity of this initial reporting. Undoubtedly, some of the facts below are out-of-date by now—especially with the calling of many more into military service—and we earnestly request that you inform us promptly of any changes in your job, your address or your family status.

In most cases the separate items include what the individual is doing and where he is located. For specific mailing addresses, just write the Alumni Office, Box 1859, Brown University, Providence 12, R. I. Subsequent Class notes will be presented more fully.

In Military Service

Air Force: Neil Donovan, Harold E. Lindahl, Jr., Robert J. Macko, John Z. McKenney, D. Alan Midgley, Jr., George S. Sunderland, Gale V. M. Wolny, Robert A. Young.

Army: Fred R. Angier, Jr., James A. Chronley, Frank J. Gaffney III, David G. Lubrano, Robert M. Mann, Philip L. Moss, Jr., Otto E. Pfannkuch, Jr., Francis B. Sargent, Alexander R. Simpson, Donald Stehle, James Y. Sweet, Robert L. Underwood, Jr.

Marines: Francis Andriuliunas, Gerald A. Kearney, Thomas L. Kelliher, Jr., Robert H. McKinley, Jr., Thomas M. Tehan, Robert J. Torok.

Navy: Alden B. Anderson, T. Frank Armstrong, H. Bradford Benson, Carlen P. Booth, J. Hector Bosse, Jr., B. Russell Buck, Jr., Paul E. Burton, Normand C. Cleaveland, Jr., Roger H. Cloutman, George E. Cohee, Jr., William W. Corcoran, Ralph R. Crosby, Jr., Robert T. Day, George N. Diederich, Thomas P. Dimeo, Paul J. Duclos, Maxwell J. Dyett, James C. Elder, Rogers Elliott, Paul F. Ferrari, Robert W. Goodwin, Robert A. Hyde, Davis Jackson, Frederick A. Keck, Jr., F. Warren Kelley, Charles W. Maslin, Wilbur D. Newman, Clarence R. Perry, Robert R. Potter, Russell A. Preble, Jr., Richard N. Rapoport, James H. Readio, C. Peter Roberts, Robert F. Ryan, John E. Sarles, Jr., Raymond J. Sayoc, Jr., Edwin Sherin, H. Woodruff Smith, Claude F. Snider, Jr., Walter A. Sturm, Donald E. Waggoner, William Walker, Paul M. Warner, Jr., George A. Wilcox.

Graduate Work

At Brown: Timothy J. Duggan, Philosophy, Neil R. Schroeder, English.

Business: Cornell—Lester L. Halpern. Harvard—Peter H. Bower, William F. Kinder, M. Barry Smith, Norman M. Steere, Robert F. Ytterberg.

Law: Boston University—E. Howland Bowen, George E. Gill. Columbia—William D. Rogers. Fletcher—Dwight Ambach. Fordham—B. Bruce Freitag. Georgetown—Stanley M. Grossman, Leo R. Murphy, Jr., William L. Howard, Jr. Harvard—Ben Aisenberg, Robert S. Cummings, Benedict M. Kohl, Noel L. Silverman, Leo Vine, Howard B. Wiener, Bertram Wolfson, O. Stanley Woolson. Michigan—Jack Ringer. Minnesota—Crane J. Bodine. Virginia—Cyril J. Smith. Yale—Lawrence A. Kaufman.

Medicine: Baltimore College of Dental Surgery—Carlton J. McLeod. Columbia—M. Howard Triedman. McGill—Richard P. Benton. Tufts—Robert J. Boragine, Alfred E. Fireman, John D. Hutchinson (dental).

Theology: American College, University of Louvain, Belgium—Maurice Adelman, Jr. Boston University—William E. Downey, Jr. Episcopal Theological—Gordon J. Stenning. Hebrew Union—Irwin H. Fishbein.

Other fields: Arizona—Richard A. Hilbert. Columbia—Herbert S. Alexander, Alan J. Levy, Lester S. Hyman, Edwin J. Urolatis. Cornell—David Nichols. Harvard—Richard E. Bayles. Illinois—Aaron Smith. Lehigh—Donald G. Manly. Louisville—Charles W. Russell. Minnesota—A. James McKnight. N.Y.U.—Edward M. Segall. Oregon—Porter S. Woods. Oxford, England—Robert J. Janson-La Palme. Paris, France—Walter F. Buckley, Jr. Penn State—David T. Barry. Princeton—John Ambrose. Wesleyan—Reginald Archambault.

Chemists

Frank A. Bartolomeo, Dow Chemical, Freeport, Tex. Daniel W. Grisley, Jr., American Cyanamid, Stamford, Conn. Roger J. Labrie, National Bureau of Standards, Washington, D. C. Robert MacFarlane, Jr., American Cyanamid,

THE SAME AS A GIFT:

It costs you nothing, but it's as good as a cash gift to us when you send prompt notice to the Alumni Office of a change of address. (Advance notice is even better, for address labels are run off 10 days before University mailings—including labels for this magazine.)

It's expensive to follow up and relocate an alumnus who moves without sending us word. Won't you save us that money? Most Brown men do.

Stamford, Conn. Edward A. Rick, Hercules Powder, Wilmington, Del. Theodore B. Selover, Jr., Standard Oil Co. of Ohio, Cleveland. John W. Watjen, Vitro Corp. of America, Sheffield, Ala.

Engineers

David E. Alden, Sperry Gyroscope, Great Neck, N. Y. William R. Almond, RCA Victor. John L. Blake, Jr., SKF Ind., Philadelphia. Grant A. Briggs, Jr., Wallace Metal Products, New Haven, Conn. James P. Casey, SKF Ind., Philadelphia. Everett L. Caswell, Jr., Northrop Aeronautical Institute, Hawthorne, Calif. Arthur M. Dallon, U. S. Rubber, Providence. William M. Eaves, Douglas Aircraft, Santa Monica, Calif. Michael A. Favicchio, Sikorsky Aircraft, Bridgeport, Conn. William K. Flanzbaum, National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics, Langley Field, Va. Anthony Kooharian, United Aircraft, East Hartford, Conn. John A. Lawlor, N. E. Telephone and Telegraph, Boston. John M. Liptak, Anaconda Wire and Cable, Hastings-on-Hudson, N. Y. Frank S. Owen, United Aircraft, East Hartford, Conn. J. Gordon Schontzler, Bell Telephone Laboratories, Murray Hill, N. J. L. Raymond Sheldon, Jr., General Electric, Lynn, Mass. Robert L. Stoffregen, Westinghouse Electric, Wilkinsburg, Pa. William J. Topazio, Sperry Gyroscope, Great Neck, N. Y. Terry M. Townsend, National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics, Langley Field, Va. James E. Tribble and Robert E. Warren, Sikorsky Aircraft, Bridgeport, Conn. Allan C. Westcott, Maryland Dry Dock Co., Baltimore.

In Insurance

Glenn N. Bower, Home Life, NYC. Edwin F. Boynton, Conn. General, Hartford, Conn. Robert G. Elliott, Hardware Mutual, Dallas, Tex. Thomas R. Gildersleeve, Prudential, Newark, N. J. G. Raymond Huot, Home Life, NYC. John O. Jewett, Mass. Mutual, Springfield, Mass. Frederick J. McGraw, Conn. General, Hartford, Conn. Christopher C. Pinkham, Liberty Mutual, Lynn, Mass. Chester C. Weinrich, Home Life, NYC.

Selling

Wallace B. Alexander, Jr., Wagenseller and Durst, Inc. (securities), Los Angeles. John L. Danforth, Cannon Mills, NYC. John P. Finlay, Mead Sales (paper), NYC. Arturo Gonzalez, TIME, Inc., NYC. Russell C. Gower, Narragansett Wire, Pawtucket, R. I. David E. Lyons, Lyons Band Instrument, Chicago. Joseph A. McOskey, Jr., Textron, NYC. Edward Munves, Jr., James Robinson, Inc., NYC. Mark T. Neville, Atlantic Refining, Springfield, Mass. Albert E. Nichols, Bal-lou, Johnson and Nichols (house furnishings), Providence. Robert C. Schneider, Standard Machinery, Mystic, Conn. Richard J. Tierney, Century Metalcraft, Pawtucket, R. I.

Miscellaneous

Edward J. Barry, Jr., Southern N. E. Telephone Co. (commercial representative), Hartford, Conn. Edward I. Barz, McCann-Erickson, Inc. (advertising), NYC. John E. Buy, National City Bank of N. Y., NYC. Paul A. Carens, assistant in law office of Thomas M. Joyce, Boston. John M. Carpenter, N. E. Telephone and Telegraph (supervisor), Boston. David W. Claire, free-lance writer, Baltimore. Mark T. Colby, Indianapolis Star (police reporter), Indianapolis. William M. DeMatteo, Willimantic State Teachers College (student teacher), Willimantic, Conn. Paul Drummond, Stein, Hall Co., Inc. (importers), NYC. Jack Grainger, Ruthrauff and Ryan, Inc. (advertising), NYC. Robert D. Harrington, Bethlehem Steel, Lackawanna, N. Y. Walter A. Horton, Virginia State Highway Council, Charlottesville, Va. James B. Huston, Jr., N. J. Bell Telephone, Hackensack, N. J. W. Miller Laughton, Jr., Bethlehem Steel (shipbuilder), Quincy, Mass. John W. McGeever, Consumer's Credit Service, Inc. (adjuster), Reading, Pa.

Benjamin W. McKendall, Jr., Brown University (admission officer), Providence. Joseph S. McVicker, Kutol Products, Norwood, Ohio. Robert MacConnell, Boston Braves (farm team), Eau Claire, Wis. Harold E. Mann, Jr., N. Y. Telephone (assistant chief account supervisor), NYC. James M. Mather, Vick Chemical (advertising dept.), NYC. Peter M. Maler, office manager for patent law firm of Langner, Perry, Card and Langner, NYC. Charles V. Mulholland, Narragansett Marine Lab (assistant geologist), Kingston, R. I. James L. Muller, Snellenburg's (executive trainee), Philadelphia. Ralph D. Orcutt, Department of Defense, Washington, D. C. William F. Outerbridge, U. S. Geological Survey (geologist), Denver, Colo. Eugene Pekow, Acorn Tire and Supply Co. (partner), Chicago. Robert E. Perry, General Electric, Syracuse, N. Y. Douglass E. Randlet, Great A. and P. Tea Co., Roxbury, Mass. Charles A. Robinson III, Providence Country Day School (teacher), Providence. Louis W. Rose, U. S. Rubber (management trainee), Naugatuck, Conn.

R. Edward Searles, Pierce-Crook Chevrolet, Pawtucket. Joseph S. Sherer III, Carter Carburetor Corp., St. Louis, Mo. Richard L. Sherman, Pawtucket Times (reporter), North Attleboro. Roy Stratton, Jr., General Electric (advertising copywriter), Schenectady, N. Y. George S. Sugden, Goodall-Sanford Corp. (inspector), Sanford, Me. Richard L. Tauber, Guaranty Trust (credit dept.), NYC. J. Robert Wahlberg, Bowerman Bros. (superintendent and estimator), Providence. Irvin A. Wexler, Robert Hall (management trainee), Oakland, Calif. James M. White, Jr., Cranston Print Works (textiles), Cranston, R. I. Malcolm G. Winne, N. J. Bell Telephone (traffic dept.), East Orange, N. J.

With More Detail

Ralph Crosby was attending Air Control School in Atlantic City in October. Two long letters, one written to NROTC Captain Frederick W. Laing and the other to Alumni Executive Secretary William B. McCormick '23, have kept us current on Ralph's doings since graduation.

His home base is Norfolk, Va., where he and his bride (the former Joan Hastings, Pembroke '52) are living at 1005 Buckingham Ave. Ralph's ship is the USS Waldron (DD-699), on which he has "a lot of assistantships." While on temporary duty in Washington during the summer, Ralph saw Fred Keck, Max Dyett, Harry Readie, Carl Booth, Bob Gaynor and Chuck Maslin. On a trip to Guantanamo Bay, he ran into Dave Jackson (aboard the USS Trathen) and Woody Smith

TWO HAMLETS alternated in the Shakespearean role when Sack and Buskin opened its 1952-53 season in Faunce House. Robert Sharpe '53 took this dramatic picture of Stephen Gray-Lewis '53 and George S. Morfagen '54.

(aboard the USS Smalley). Back at Norfolk he visited with Bob Goodwin, Ty Day and Brad Benson. Brad is on an ammunition ship, enjoying a private state-room complete with bathroom and shower. Brad was in Providence for a weekend this fall, incidentally.

Because Ralph will be moving around a bit, John Hutchinson will handle all the secretarial business of the Class. John is attending Tufts Dental School but prefers his home address, 41 Randolph Ave., Waterbury, Conn., for mail.

Elwood A. Eldridge is teaching and directing athletics at The Wooster School in Danbury, Conn.

Leonard J. Panaggio, chief of the Recreation Bureau of the Rhode Island Development Council, prepared the 32-page booklet which proclaims to the world the attractions of Little Rhody as a holiday state.

Dick Sherman is on the staff of the Pawtucket Times, covering North Attleboro. When he wrote us in October it was on the stationery of the YMCA in North Attleboro, where he was filling in for the month as temporary secretary. He and his bride are living at 306 Broadway, North Attleboro.

Cpl. Rodney F. Pertsch was graduated in June from the 43rd Infantry Division Leaders School in Southern Germany. He is serving in the survey section of Headquarters Battery of the 206th Field Artillery Battalion.

Charles A. Robinson III has been appointed a teacher in the lower forms at Providence Country Day School. The son of Brown Classics Prof. Charles A. Robinson, Jr., he will coach athletics as well as teach.

Another teacher is Henry St. Onge who is instructing in French and social studies at St. Dunstan's School in Providence. He is also assisting in the athletic program.

Second Lieutenant George Sunderland reported to Lackland AFB in Texas in August to study electronic counter-measures.

Also at Lackland, 2nd Lt. Neil B. Donavan received his commission there in September. He was OCS group commander during the last three months of training and received a trophy for leadership. He has been assigned to Air Intelligence School at Lowry AFB, Colo.

Sgt. Tom Kelliher took the Marine Corps Platoon Leaders course at Quantico this fall.

Ens. Donald E. Waggoner is aboard the USS R. A. Owens.

Robert Janson-LaPalme sailed for England in September. He is studying history and economics at Oxford.

The Seniors Are Filming Theirs

FILM JURY: Members of the 1953 movie committee look over the first rushes: Left to right, Mortin Molinou, photographer, Bert Amann, Chuck Colson, Vice-President Bruce M. Bigelow, and Dave Busing.

By C. BERT AMANN '53

BBROWN'S CLASS of 1953 will have a price-less movie record of its Senior year, thanks to the enterprise of a Class committee which will produce its own film. Actually, the project began last March with the Junior Prom when the camera caught many members of the Class during the festivities. The record continued through the rushing season, the Spring Weekend, the Dedication of the Quadrangle, and the graduation of 1952. Production resumed after the summer holidays, starting with Freshman Week. Co-Chairmen Charles Colson and Dave Busing, as directors, will attempt to include in the final film every phase of college life, both academic and extracurricular.

It is expected that copies of the film will be distributed to Brown Clubs throughout the country. The film, which will be done in black and white with full narration and musical background, will also be available to interested alumni everywhere in the nation. The producers also expect that the admissions and publicity offices will take full advantage of the movie in their work.

The main idea behind the project, however, is to use the film for class of '53 functions, including reunions and to leave with the University a live story of the Class' Senior year. The movie is being undertaken in addition to the Class gift.

Martin Malinou, a professional photographer in Providence, who is this year a Sophomore at Brown, won the contract for the project and will work with Busing and Colson on the film. The producers have set up shop in the basement of Faunce House in the former Book Store office. Work will be coordinated there between members of the Class, the photographers and the project committee. Bert Amann '53 will direct publicity for the film throughout production, and Paul Goldman, President of the class, will coordinate the aims of the project committee with the '53 Class Council.

Early rushes looked promising in the experimental preliminary period. The final editing will, of course, select only the best shots from what is obviously and intentionally too much footage. The University Administration, especially Vice-president Bigelow, has shown a good deal of interest in the project and has offered its complete cooperation in the work, although the film will be produced entirely by members of the undergraduate body and will not be a University program. The film is being financed through the Class of '53 treasury.

If it is at all possible, the directors of the movie hope to include every 1953 man in the film. They also hope that the film will be received enthusiastically by all the alumni. Subscription to it by the alumni would be greatly appreciated, not only by the producers, but by the Class itself.

Furthermore the producers would welcome any criticisms or advice from the alumni concerning the whole project or any specific phase of it. Cards or letters may be addressed to the '53 Movie Project, Faunce House.

Best in New England

"MOLINEUX FIRST BUT BEARS LOSE" was almost a standard headline for reports of Varsity cross country meets this season. Capt. Walt Molineux '53, Brown's record-smasher in winter and spring track, was also star of the over-hill-and-dale squad. In three of the five fall meets, he came in first. He took the New England individual title in his last and best undergraduate race as a harrier.

Team strength has not proved deep enough to exploit any of Molineux' performances, however. Bill Reid '54 was fourth against Rhode Island and sixth in the Providence College contest, but neither showing was able to produce a team victory. The respective final scores: 23-38 and 21-39.

In a triangular meet, Brown defeated Holy Cross, 52-60, and lost to M.I.T., 22-52. Molineux was bothered by stomach cramps and could do no better than 19th. Simultaneously, a dual meet with Boston University was won by the hub team, 19-42, in spite of Reid's second place. At the Heptagonals in New York, Molineux came in fourth and Reid 24th to rank Brown seventh among ten competing squads. Princeton, Columbia and Pennsylvania trailed the Bears.

In the New England Molineux led the field of 111 runners, but Bill Reid, who led the pack in its early stages, was the only other Brunonian with a low score—13th. The team placed 10th among the 16 entries. The Freshmen were fifth in their division, led by Charlie Flather (10th) and Bob Holton (11th), their most consistent competitors all season. The Cubs won one dual meet, downing Rhode Island 26-31.

Westchester Men to Meet

ALL BROWN ALUMNI of New York's Westchester County are cordially invited to attend a social evening to be held at the Greenville Community Church House, 580 Central Avenue, Scarsdale, at 8 o'clock on Dec. 5. The meeting is under the auspices of the Brown University Alumni Organizing Committee of Westchester County, George A. Blakeslee, Jr., '35, Chairman. Guest speakers will be Coach Alva Kelley and William McCormick, Alumni Secretary. Coach Kelley will also show moving pictures of this season's Brown games.

The Committee has held several meetings this fall with a view to uniting the more than 400 Brown alumni in Westchester County in a formal organization for the purpose of promoting the interests of Brown University in the area. Members of the organizing committee are Charles Beattie '23, Scarsdale; George A. Blakeslee, Jr., '35, Hastings-on-Hudson; Cort Briggs '39, Scarsdale; Willard C. Butcher '48, Bronxville; Hugh Chedester '45, Mt. Vernon; Robert S. Cuddy '41, Scarsdale; William J. Dwyer '48, Rye; William F. Flower '35, Larchmont; Herbert M. Iselin '42, New Rochelle; Frank McEvoy '39, Scarsdale; Peter O. Newkirk '50, Scarsdale; Bartlett Page '28, Scarsdale; William J. Roach '48, Mt. Vernon.

WILLIAM F. FLOWER '35

Anniversary Ahead

LOOKING AHEAD to its 50th anniversary, the Connecticut Valley Brown Club took a short and agreeable course in alumni responsibilities from two visitors from the campus Oct. 17. Emery R. Walker, Jr., '39, Dean of Admission, described the role alumni are playing in the admission program and showed color pictures of College Hill today. Chesley Worthington '23, Editor of the Alumni Monthly, compared Brown's alumni activity with that in other colleges he encountered during his recent term as President of the American Alumni Council. Blake's Restaurant in Springfield, Mass., was the scene of the well-attended meeting.

The Club was first organized on Feb. 27, 1903, and a special anniversary program is being arranged by the present officers. Dr. William C. Hill '94, a charter member of the Club, was among those attending the recent gathering. President William C. Giles, Jr., '42 and Secretary

Standing Invitations

BROWN CLUBS in several cities are scheduling weekly or monthly meetings on regular days again this year. All alumni, resident or transient in the area, are invited to attend without formality at these affairs.

Boston, luncheon second Tuesday of the month, Thompson's Spa, 239 Washington St., 12:30 p.m.

New York, luncheon third Tuesday of the month, club quarters, 39 E. 39th St., noon.

Philadelphia, luncheon second Thursday of the month, Princeton Club, 1223 Locust St., noon.

Similar information from other Clubs will be welcome.

The Brown Clubs Report

You Can Hear the Choir

THE BROWN CHAPEL CHOIR will again broadcast a program in this year's College Choir and Glee Club series of the Mutual Broadcasting System. The date for the broadcast in the East is Sunday, Dec. 28, and the time is noon to 12:30 p.m. Since Mutual stations in the Midwest and West sometimes carry such programs as this at a later date, alumni in these regions are advised to check local stations for the exact time and day when the program will be carried. Prof. William Dinneen of the music department will again direct the choir in a varied and stimulating program of sacred music.

Last year, the Brown broadcast was considered one of the best in the series, not only by Brown men but also by Mutual officials.

Lewis A. Shaw '48 took turns presiding. Several promising secondary school students from the area, as well as a few parents of undergraduates, were among the guests.

Scholarship Chairman Ralph A. Armstrong '17 announced that George W. Easton '56 had been chosen from a large number of eligibles to receive the first Connecticut Valley Brown Club Scholarship.

Officers serving this year, in addition to Giles and Shaw, are: Vice-President Samuel L. Thompson, Jr., '44, Treasurer John W. Byam '36, and Directors Armstrong, Hill, Samuel Blassberg '46, Henry W. Hayes '42, and Walter H. Mitchell '00.

"Kappy" in Manhattan

THE LIGHTER SIDE of University teaching was stressed before the New York Brown Club members when Prof. I. J. Kapstein spoke at their Faculty Night in October. "Students I Have Known" was "Kappy's" topic for the evening, and his humorous accounting of the undergraduate intellect provided plenty of laughs for the group of approximately 60 members and wives. A reception for Kappy and Mrs. Kapstein was held before dinner at the Club's quarters.

On the eve of the Princeton game, Oct. 31, the Club arranged a sport dance and beer party for members and other Brunonians in town for the weekend. Monthly luncheon meetings are being held as last year on the third Tuesday in the Landon Room at 12:15. Ed Sulzberger '29 is Chairman of the Activities Committee this year.

Pittsburgh's Holiday Plans

ON THE PROGRAM COMMITTEE for the Brown Club of Western Pennsylvania are Chairman Lee S. McLeod '15, Christopher Gunderson '27 and George P. Sawyer '40. Tentative plans have been made for a get-together over the Christmas holidays to include Pittsburgh area undergraduates and possibly their fathers.

Tucson's Visitar

THE BROWN CLUB of Tucson met Oct. 26 to make plans for the visit in January of University Provost Samuel T. Arnold '13, Charlie Towne '97, Bradford "Bud" Moore '19 and Lou Farber '29 were appointed by President Bob Locke '24 as a committee to arrange a dinner for all Arizona alumni and their wives plus Pembroke and their husbands. In prospect, it looks like the biggest gathering that Southwest Brunonians have enjoyed in a long time.

At the same meeting, President Locke and Secretary Farber were given a "vote of confidence" to remain in office until March elections. In attendance were: Dr. Henry G. Atha '27, Farber, Dr. Milton Goldberger '24, Richard Hilkert '52, Warren Jewett '52, Locke, Burnett C. Meyer '45, Moore, Jack I. Podret '39, Joseph H. Roberts '42, the Rev. William L. Phillips '12, and Graduate School alumni Dr. N. J. Tremblay and Deonise Trifan.

LOU FARBER '29

Hartford's Sendoff

ONCE MORE Hartford gave its annual bon voyage dinner to the Freshmen from this area. More than 40 were at the University Club, including eight of 10 men from the area going to Brown this year. The date was Wednesday, Sept. 3.

Jack Montgomery, our new president, gave us all an outline of his plans for the coming year, and made a very fine impression in doing so.

Emery Walker did an outstanding job in his talk to the Freshmen and to us, and many a favorable comment was heard of his talk during the evening. The excellent slides thrown on the screen took us back over the years, and also brought us up to date on the latest changes. A most enjoyable evening!

Here are those attending: Paul Monahan '31, Bill Robotham '25, Frank Jones '97, Dan Howard '93 (how faithful these 2 have been through the years), Francis Enslin '25, Henry Hayes '42 (Springfield), Lew Shaw '48 (Springfield), Stuart Tinkham '23, Hawley Judd '45, Burt Lovell '28, Harold McKay '18, Larry Smith '20, Bob Hartigan '37, John Chafee '18, Cy Flanders '18, Bob Allison '29, Jack Montgomery '38, Emery Walker '39, Ralph Walker '35, Wally Henshaw '23, Paul McKay '56 (son of Harold McKay '18), Bruce Hunting '56, Bruce Lovell '56 (son of Bruce Lovell '28), Paul Hatch '56, Harold Madison '31, Russ Granniss '36, Dan MacDonald '51, Ken Wright '38, John Burroughs '55, Glenn Flanders '49, Bill Phillips '50, Jack Durnin '49, Alton Ryder '56, Jim Gagliardi '56, Andy Dragat '56, Raymond Cooke '56, Clarence Roth '46, Fred McGraw '52, Ed Boynton '52, Jesse Bailey '16, Fred Bailey '53, Bill Bieluch '39, Ed Fuller '35.

CY FLANDERS '18

Bureau of Vital Statistics

MARRIAGES

1898—Pliny A. Boyd and Miss Isabel B. High in Bloomfield, N. J., July 7, 1952.

1936—Herbert Barlow and Miss Margaret C. Curphey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Curphey of Providence, July 12, 1952. At home: 115 Butler Ave., Providence.

1941—William F. Allen, Jr., and Miss Doris Evelyn Pendoley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick M. Pendoley of Braintree, Mass., Sept. 6, 1952.

1943—Eliot F. Parkhurst and Miss Priscilla Ann Savage, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul C. Savage of Bangor, Me., Sept. 27, 1952. William R. Potter '42 and John F. Pendleton '42 ushered. The groom's father was the late Eliot G. Parkhurst '06. At home: 24-10 Garden Circle, Waltham, Mass.

1945—James A. Cooper and Miss Rhea Lou Newhouse, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred E. Newhouse of Newington, Conn., Sept. 6, 1952. An usher was Donald H. Holmes '46.

1946—Henry David Epstein and Miss Henny Wenkart, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Herman Wenkart of Providence, Sept. 6, 1952. Sheldon Heller '46 was best man. Ushers were Ernest Greenberg '48, Edward Spindell '49 and Lloyd Spindell '48. At home: 456 Beacon St., Boston.

1946—John Edward Lombardo and Miss Marilyn Ann Griffin, daughter of Mrs. Marion Grace Griffin of Hartford, Conn., Sept. 6, 1952. At home: 44 Garden St., Hartford.

1946—Hugh A. W. MacNair and Miss Winifred Mann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander C. Mann of Great Neck, N. Y., Sept. 13, 1952. The groom's father is Hugh W. MacNair '17.

1948—James Lee Bonoff and Miss Helene Janet Yale, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Yale of New Haven, Conn., Sept. 7, 1952. Erwin Strasmich '46 and Jacob Rotman '48 ushered.

1948—John H. Campbell and Miss Mary Elizabeth Owen, daughter of Mrs. Grace Fisher Owen of Hope, N. J., Sept. 17, 1952.

1948—Robert F. Conley and Miss Joan Elizabeth Story, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold B. Story of Middletown, Conn., August 1952. Moss Bergwall '50 ushered.

1948—Stephen N. Wiener and Miss June C. Wasser, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Wasser of Brookline, Mass., Aug. 24, 1952.

1949—Melvin J. King and Miss Carolyn Tefft of Pawtucket, Aug. 30, 1952. Best man was Ralph Brisco '54.

1949—Robert Leroy Morier and Miss Mary Woodford Sessions, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Beach Sessions of Bristol, Conn., Sept. 6, 1952.

1949—Carl R. Ostroff and Miss Nancie Lee Abrams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Irving Abrams of Newton, Mass., September 1952.

1949—Paul B. Richards and Miss Ann Forbes Greenough, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Bates Greenough, Jr. of Providence, Sept. 6, 1952. Best man was David Laurent '49. Lt. Richard Hatch, USN '50 ushered. The bride's father is a '22 man.

1950—Lincoln Edward Barber, Jr., and Miss Carolyn Lee Cooke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Chester Cooke of Shaker Hts., Ohio, Sept. 5, 1952. Roe P. Hendrick '49 and Howard Kimball '49 ushered. At home: 233 Beacon St., Boston.

1950—Thomas J. Brown and Miss Inez Beverly Tinsley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Beverly Tinsley of Boston, June 29, 1952.

1950—James V. DeForest and Miss Dorothy Batchelor, Pembroke '52, in New York City, June 21, 1952.

1950—Joseph A. Felt and Miss Valerie Ann Boldt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Christlieb Boldt of Wakefield, R. I., June 20, 1952. Best man was Eugene C. Phillips '53. Robert C. Litchfield '54 ushered. At home: 20 Vinton Rd., Madison, N. J.

1950—Ens. Allen S. Kerr and Miss Charlyn Floyd in Evanston, Ill., July 19, 1952.

1950—Harry D. Lane and Miss Beverly Burke in Houston, Tex., May 31, 1952. At home: 1700 N. Pontiac Rd., Roswell, N. M.

1950—Roderick B. MacLeod and Miss Alys Farnsworth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William B. Farnsworth of Bristol, R. I., Sept. 13, 1952. The bride's father is Brown '17. William M. MacLeod '48 ushered. At home: 102 S. Angell St., Providence.

1950—John J. Michaud and Miss Dorothy June Mitchell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin F. Mitchell of Providence, Sept. 27, 1952. At home: 111 June St., Providence.

1950—Robert F. Morse and Miss Elinor L. Marshall of Groton, Conn., Aug. 2, 1952.

1950—Robert N. Stoecker and Miss Corinne Lee Palm, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Axel J. Palm of Bradford, R. I., Sept. 20, 1952. Best man was Irving A. Hiller '50. Ushers were William D. Lawton '50 and Lewis D. Emerson, Jr., '50.

1951—Ens. James E. Boyce and Miss Elsie Edgeworth Ridings, Pembroke '51, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Garvice H. Ridings of Summit, N. J., Sept. 13, 1952. Best man was Frederick M. Boyce, Jr., '49. The groom's father is Brown '09.

1951—Shaynor E. Klane and Miss Joyce Freedman, daughter of Mrs. Harry S. Freedman of Brockton, Mass., Sept. 7,

"Sincere, at Least"

IRVING T. MARSH of the New York Herald Tribune devoted his Oct. 12 column to our presentation of the Case of the 14 Ineligible Football Players at Brown, with the comment that "things are not really as bad as the original hush-hush tale would seem to indicate." He said, among other things, that the editors of this magazine "evidently are considerably exercised over the matter, for they devote almost a quarter of their magazine to its recital. . . . Maybe Brown did go a little overboard, but at least it was sincere in the manner in which it handled the matter."

For Korean Christmases

PRACTICAL GIFTS are what American soldiers in Korea want for Christmas, according to Capt. Owen J. Carroll '50. Dehydrated foods for snacks, including soup, are high on the preferred list, Carroll says, followed by fruit, family photographs, stationery and toilet articles. Other favorites for Christmas packages include radios, cameras, film, wallets and magazines.

Carroll is serving with the Korean Military Advisory Group, which is helping train the Republic of Korea Army.

1952. Best man was Keith Klane '50. At home: 15 West Elm Terrace, Brockton, Mass.

1951—Ronald E. Seaman and Miss Mary Francis Henderson, daughter of Mr. John C. Henderson and the late Mrs. Henderson of South Orange, N. J., Sept. 13, 1952.

1951—2nd Lt. Marshall A. Staunton and Miss Nancy McLandress, Pembroke '52, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Smith McLandress of Glens Falls, N. Y., Sept. 27, 1952.

1951—Harold R. Steen, Jr., and Miss Velma-Jane Walpole, daughter of Mr. C. Raymond Walpole of Cranston, R. I., Sept. 13, 1952. At home: 42 Winthrop St., Taunton, Mass.

1952—Ens. Ralph R. Crosby, Jr., and Miss Joan Hastings, Pembroke '52 in Williamsburg, Va., June 1, 1952. Best man was Norman Steere '52. Ushers were James Diederling '52, Russell Gower '52, George Hall '51, and Fred Barrows '55. At home: 1005 Buckingham Ave., Norfolk, Va. Crosby's father is Ralph R. Crosby '26; his grandfather E. H. Weeks '93.

1952—Walter E. Heingartner and Miss Mary Patricia Murphy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Murphy of Manhasset, L. I., Sept. 20, 1952.

1952—Pfc. Dermott R. McSorley and Miss Lois Reynolds, daughter of Lt. Col. and Mrs. Richard R. Sherburne of Marshallville, Ga., in Pirmasens, Germany, July 26, 1952.

1952—Ens. Wilbur David Newman and Miss Ruth Caryl Koerbel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack W. Koerbel of Bronxville, N. Y., Aug. 9, 1952. Best man was David W. Claire '52. Robert Newman '31 and William Condaxis '49 ushered.

BIRTHS

1936—To Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Kenyon of Edgewood, R. I., a son, William Woods, Sept. 6, 1952.

1939—To Mr. and Mrs. William C. Bieluch of Hartford, a daughter, Virginia Mary, Aug. 29, 1952.

1939—To Mr. and Mrs. David Landman of New York City, a daughter, Alicia, Sept. 9, 1952.

1941—To Mr. and Mrs. Wm. C. Albee of Syracuse, N. Y., a daughter, Heather, May 10, 1952.

1941—To Mr. and Mrs. R. Sherwin Drury of Fitchburg, Mass., a daughter, Judith, Sept. 6, 1952.

1942—To Mr. and Mrs. William H. Briggs, Jr., of Greens Farms, Conn., a daughter, Marilyn Ann, Apr. 22, 1952.

1942—To Mr. and Mrs. Leo Dunn of Waltham, Mass., a son, Stephen, July 2, 1952.

1942—To Mr. and Mrs. John E. Holden of Lancaster, Pa., a son, John Edward, Jr., May 12, 1952.

1943—To Mr. and Mrs. Richard B. Fletcher of Barrington, R. I., a daughter, Nancy Halden, Sept. 26, 1952.

1944—To Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Goldsmith of Providence, a daughter, Patricia Jane, Aug. 12, 1952.

1944—To Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Carleton Prescott, Jr., of Lawrence, Kan., a son, Glenn Carleton Prescott III, Jan. 21, 1952.

1944—To Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Sherman, Jr., of Pittsburgh, Pa., a son, William Charles.

1945—To Lt. Roland Whitney Goff, Jr., USNR, and Mrs. Goff (Jean Rees, Pembroke '44) of Groton, Conn., a son, Lawrence Wesley Goff, Sept. 17, 1952. (Announcement came in the form of a Ship's Position Report: "Distance made good—one boy baby." The reverse had the inscription: "Send priority dispatch to father aboard U.S.S. Corregidor (CVE-58). A new officer reported aboard.")

1946—To Lt. and Mrs. James R. Blease of Norfolk, Va., a son, James Stephen, Aug. 17, 1952.

1949—To Mr. and Mrs. Ronald E. Hall of Marblehead, Mass., their second child, a daughter, Brenda Jean, Sept. 24, 1952.

1949—To Gerrit Sanford and Mrs. Sanford (Elizabeth Ann Swartz, Pembroke '50) of Providence, a daughter Susan, Sept. 22, 1952. (Card said, "We are proud to announce a Brown-eyed Susan," and the appropriate flowers were on it.)

1949—To Mr. and Mrs. Howard G. Seaver of Hartford, Conn., their first child, Howard George, Jr., May 28, 1952.

1950—To Ens. and Mrs. Robert Archibald of Norfolk, Va., a daughter, Elizabeth Anne, July 7, 1952. Mrs. Archibald is the former Anne Day, Pembroke '49.

1950—To Mr. and Mrs. William W. Day, of Tenafly, N. J., a son, Robert William, July 21, 1952. Mrs. Day is the former Serenna Foxall, Pembroke '49.

1950—To Lt. and Mrs. H. A. Ferrari of California, a son, Robert Henry, Aug. 12, 1952.

1950—To Mr. and Mrs. David D. Hurlin of Antrim, N. H., a son, William Hayward, July 31, 1952. The paternal grandfather is William H. Hurlin '16.

1950—To Mr. and Mrs. Raymond G. Perreault of Norwalk, Conn., a son, Raymond Thomas, Mar. 28, 1952. Mrs. Perreault is the former Joan Penning, Pembroke '50.

1950—To Mr. and Mrs. James E. Rogers of Palisade, N. J., a daughter, Janice Deborah, Oct. 28, 1951.

1950—To Mr. and Mrs. John A. Underhill of Endicott, N. Y., a son, Charles John, July 7, 1952.

1951—To Mr. and Mrs. Frederic C. Caswell, Jr., of Newport, a daughter, Ellen Scott, June 17, 1952.

1951—To Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. Daden of Hellertown, Pa., a daughter, Karen Elise, July 21, 1952.

1951—To Mr. and Mrs. William H. Manning of Schenectady, their second child, a daughter, Marcia, July 11, 1952.

1951—To Mr. and Mrs. Elliot Rhian of Waltham, their first child, a son, Steven Paul, Aug. 27, 1952.

In Memoriam

JAMES H. PARKHURST, house man for Zeta Psi fraternity for 31 years, in Providence Oct. 15, 1952, after a six weeks' illness resulting from a virus infection. During the war and since, he had been employed by the University's Buildings and Grounds Department, with assignment to Zeta Psi except during the war period when fraternity houses were closed.

DR. FRANK LUCIUS SHEPARDSON '83, Aug. 19, 1952, in Hamilton, N. Y. Professor Emeritus of Greek at Colgate University since the time of his retirement in 1933, he began his career there as Principal of Colgate Academy from 1896 to 1912, at which time the facilities of the academy were absorbed into the growing university. During the past 20 years he had also served the university as its Treasurer. Beta Theta Pi, Phi Beta Kappa.

DR. HARRY LINWOOD GRANT '90, Oct. 1, 1952, in Providence. During World War I he served with Red Cross overseas, caring for hospitalized patients was sent to Southern Russia to distribute food and supplies to anti-Bolsheviks, fled with 600 Russian refugees to the Crimea, returned to Paris and served until 1921. Alpha Delta Phi, Phi Beta Kappa. A faithful Class Secretary.

DR. ERNEST KETCHUM TANNER '03, Aug. 31, 1952, in Brooklyn, N. Y. Major in the Army Medical Corps during World War I, he served in France until 1919. He was consulting surgeon at Pratt Institute and Brooklyn Training School for Girls, retiring in 1948. At the time of his death he was surgeon emeritus at Brooklyn Hospital and clinical Professor of Surgery at the Long Island Medical College.

HOVSEP CASPAR NAHIGIAN '03, Sept. 19, 1952, in Wilmette, Ill. As a young man he was an ardent worker for Armenian independence, and while he was an undergraduate word came to him that he had been appointed executive secretary of the Armenian revolutionary movement in this country. His duties became so exacting that it was impossible for him to continue his studies. Later he became an oriental rug dealer and owner of H. C. Nahigian Sons in Chicago.

WALTER HOWARD BARNEY '05, Sept. 16, 1952, in Warwick, R. I. Before his retirement in 1949 after 25 years of service, he was Vice-President and General Manager of the Collyer Insulated Wire Co. of Pawtucket, R. I. He was an active member in a number of service and social clubs. Walter G. Barney '36 is his son. Beta Theta Pi.

JAMES GREEN CONNOLLY '09, Aug. 31, 1952, in Digby, N. S. A member of the bars of Mass., R. I., and U.S. Supreme Court, he served as City Solicitor for Pawtucket, R. I., 16 years and as Lt. Governor during the administration of Gov. Norman S. Case '08. Phi Kappa, Phi Beta Kappa.

WILLIAM ARTHUR NEEDHAM '15, Sept. 4, 1952, in Providence, after a long career in City and State politics. He had served as executive secretary to Gov. Emory J. San Souci for 2 years and Providence City Solicitor from 1939-44. In recent years he had been Rehabilitation Officer with the Veterans Administration. Phi Beta Kappa.

CARL OSWALD LATHROP '17, Sept. 5, 1952, in Hamilton, Ont. A bacteriologist and later a tireless public health educator, he served and taught in the Providence City Hospital, the University of Buffalo Medical School, and the School of Medicine of the University of Rochester. His son is Donald D. Lathrop '50. Sigma Chi, Sigma Xi.

FRANK ALEXANDER ROSS ALLEN '21, Sept. 2, 1952, in Pawtucket, R. I. A member of the Pawtucket school department for the past 24 years, he was Superintendent of Schools until 1947. At that time he became chairman of a junior college commission to study the operations of established junior colleges. Zeta Psi.

LELAND MELVIN THURSTON '35, Sept. 19, 1952, in Providence. Interested in astronomy, he was a member of the Providence Skyscrapers of Providence. He was also a member of the Providence Serenaders.

WILLIAM EUGENE MCGEE '47, June 13, 1952, in Denver, Colo. With the United States Bureau of Reclamation, he served as electrical engineer in the reclamation of western land. Sigma Xi.

MAJ. DONALD FOUNTAIN GIVENS '53, Sept. 11, 1952, in South Korea. With 5 other pilots of Marine Panther jets returning from a combat mission, he struck a high peak at dusk while trying to locate a friendly field when bad weather had closed in on their squadron's base.

ALBERT D. SHAW '02, retired Vice-President of the Massachusetts Mutual Life Insurance Co. of Springfield, died there Nov. 17, 1952. He had at one time been President of the City Council and the Winthrop Club. A son is Lewis A. Shaw '48, former Brown Athletic Publicity Director.

SECRETARIES OF BROWN CLUBS

AKRON, G. H. Gates '23, 2129 17th St., Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio
 ALTA CALIFORNIA (San Francisco), Robert E. Soellner '24, 345 Forest Ave., Palo Alto, Calif.
 ASHEVILLE, N. C., James B. Hurley '29, Box 174, Canton, N. C.
 BALTIMORE, William K. Connor '49, 2 E. 39th St., Baltimore 18, Md.
 BERKSHIRE COUNTY, P. A. Tamburello '34, 28 North St., Pittsfield, Mass.
 BOSTON, William R. Hulbert '37, 84 State St., Boston 9, Mass.
 BRIDGEPORT, D. A. Mahoney, Jr. '49, 195 Oakland St., Stratford, Conn.
 BROWN ENGINEERING ASSN., George A. Pournaras '25, 37 Sprague St., Baldwin, L. I., N. Y.
 BUFFALO (Western N. Y.), Robert F. King '50, 43 Northampton St., Buffalo 9, N. Y.
 CANTON, Samuel J. Dreyer '22, 1950 No. Market, Canton, Ohio
 CAPE COD, Carl A. Terry '15, Box 84, Barnstable, Mass.
 CENTRAL PENNSYLVANIA, James B. Sisk '31, Belle Alto, RD 3, Wernersville, Pa.
 CHICAGO, Antone G. Singsen '38, 1078 Spruce St., Winnetka, Ill.
 CINCINNATI, George Pierce '38, 1515 Union Trust Bldg., Cincinnati 2
 CLEVELAND, Owen F. Walker '33, Nat'l City Bank Bldg., Cleveland
 CONNECTICUT VALLEY, Lewis A. Shaw '48, 231 Belmont Ave., Springfield 8, Mass.
 DALLAS, Coburn A. Buxton '34, 3411 Wylie Dr., Dallas 9, Texas
 DETROIT, Allen Aikens III '48, 480 Southlawn Blvd., Birmingham, Mich.
 EAGLE ROCK, Lucien Drury '36, 35 Marquette Rd., Upper Montclair, N. J.
 EASTERN CONNECTICUT, R. Whitney Goff '45, 209 Shennecossett Pkwy., Groton, Conn.
 FALL RIVER, John Daton '50, 749 Hanover St., Fall River
 GEORGIA, Norman P. Arnold '30, 2386 Alston Dr., Atlanta, Ga.
 HARTFORD, Cyrus G. Flanders '18, 66 N. Main St., Windsor Locks, Conn.
 HOUSTON, Morris J. Pepper '27, 708 Sterling Bldg., Houston 2, Texas
 INDIANA, Alfred E. Kessler '35, 2429 Baur Dr., Indianapolis 20, Ind.
 KANSAS CITY, Mo., L. H. Denison '96, 200 Rialto Bldg., Kansas City, Mo.
 LACKAWANNA, Irving Patterson '42, 26 Hawthorne Ave., Morris Plains, N. J.
 LONG ISLAND, George Leddy, Jr., '50, 37-16 84th St., Jackson Heights, L. I., N. Y.
 LOS ANGELES, John M. Hannan '49, 234 N. Reese Pl., Burbank, Calif.
 LOUISIANA, Dr. Dean H. Echols '27, Ochsner Clinic, 1428 First St., New Orleans, La.
 MANHASSET BAY, R. P. Uhl '30, 1 Water Lane, Plandome, L. I., N. Y.
 MERRIMACK VALLEY, J. S. Eastham '19, 250 Stuart St., Boston, Mass.
 MID-HUDSON, Benson R. Frost, Jr., '41, 21 Chestnut St., Rhinebeck, N. Y.
 MILWAUKEE, G. J. Devine '36, 709 E. Juneau Ave., Milwaukee 2, Wisc.
 NEW BEDFORD, Jack M. Rosenberg '42, 46 South 6th St., New Bedford, Mass.

Harvard College Library
 Cambridge 38,
 Massachusetts

NEW HAVEN, J. C. Braman '40, 153 McKinley Ave., New Haven, Conn.
 NEW YORK, R. M. Golrick '47, Brown Club, 38 E. 39th St., N. Y. 16, N. Y.
 NORTH SHORE (Mass.), S. A. Hutchinson '31, 27 Pilgrim Rd., Marblehead, Mass.
 N. E. NEW YORK, Paul R. Wicks '31, 10 Austin Ave., Albany
 N. E. PENNSYLVANIA, Henry W. Peterson '21, 409 Miners Bank Bldg., Wilkes-Barre, Pa.
 NORTHWEST (Seattle), A. Wilbur Stevens '42, 4061 Pasadena Pl., Apt. 1, Seattle 5, Wash.
 OKLAHOMA, E. J. Schermerhorn '34, 2824 So. Columbia Pl., Tulsa, Okla.
 OREGON, Ashley Greene '21, 7106 S.E. 31st St., Portland 2, Ore.
 PHILADELPHIA, M. L. Mackenzie '51, 705 Walnut St., Phila. 6
 PHOENIX, Arthur L. Flagg '06, 29 Holly St., Phoenix
 PLAINFIELD AREA SECTION 1, Charles E. Benz '32, Martinsville, N. J.
 RHODE ISLAND, William D. Reynolds '37, 40 Bluff Rd., Barrington, R. I.
 ROCHESTER, R. J. Meredith, Jr., '49, 37 Pickford Dr., Rochester 18, N. Y.
 ROCKY MOUNTAIN, Judge Joseph E. Cook '14, City and County Bldg., Denver, Colo.
 SAN DIEGO, Col. Henry R. Dutton '19, Casa de Manana, La Jolla, Calif.
 SCARSDALE-WHITE PLAINS, William J. Roach '48, 531 E. Lincoln Ave., Apt. 3K, Mt. Vernon, N. Y.
 SOUTH FLORIDA, Edwin C. Bliss '47, Box 772, Coral Gables, Fla.
 ST. LOUIS, Creighton B. Calfee '34, 3 Warson Hills, St. Louis 24, Mo.
 SYRACUSE, Earle C. Drake '24, 114 Harrington Rd., Syracuse, N. Y.
 TRENTON, H. M. Benedict '22, 363 West State St., Trenton 8, N. J.
 TUCSON, Louis Farber '29, 2014 Grant Rd., Tucson, Ariz.
 TWIN CITY (Minneapolis-St. Paul), Richard W. Carpenter '47, 5023 49th Ave. No., Minneapolis 4, Minn.
 VIRGINIA, Philip C. Martin '50, 1202 Santa Rosa Rd., Richmond 26, Va.
 WASHINGTON, D. C., John J. Burke '45, 1519 28th St., N.W., Wash. 7
 WESTERN MAINE, Robert F. Skillings '11, 7 Oaklawn Rd., Peaks Island, Me.
 WESTERN PENN., H. L. Sherman, Jr. '48, 877 Stevendale Dr., Pitts. 21
 WOONSOCKET, H. M. Caslowitz '28, P. O. Box 528, Woonsocket, R. I.
 WORCESTER COUNTY (Mass.), George E. Marble '00, 14 High Ridge Rd., Worcester, Mass.

ASSOCIATION OF CLASS SECRETARIES

Earl M. Pearce '17, Chairman

1883—Prof. H. P. Manning, 148 Governor St.
 1884—Col. W. M. P. Bowen, 635 Hospital Trust Bldg.
 1885—Frank Hail Brown, P. O. Box 1172.
 1887—Dr. Edmund D. Chesebro, Theinert House, Pleasant View Ave., Greenville, R. I.
 1888—Prof. Arthur E. Watson, 30 Congdon St.
 1890—Rev. Hamilton E. Chapman, 20 Dewey St.
 1891—Frank L. Hinckley, 2200 Industrial Trust Bldg.
 1892—Dr. Herbert G. Partridge, 190 Angell St.
 1893—R. M. Brown, 60 Alfred Drowne Rd., W. Barrington, R. I.
 1894—William C. Hill, 1166 Worthington St., Springfield, Mass.
 1895—Herbert M. Adams, 15 Westminster St.
 1896—Charles R. Easton, 368 Benefit St.
 1897—George L. Miner, 276 Blackstone Blvd.
 1898—Theodore E. Dexter, 73 Hawes St., Central Falls, R. I.
 1899—Benjamin W. Grim, 302 Thayer St.
 1900—Willard H. Bacon, 33 Spruce St., West-erly, R. I.
 1901—William H. Hull, P. O. Box 1318.
 1902—Lewis S. Milner, 40 Irving Ave.
 1903—Fred A. Otis, 605 Hospital Trust Bldg.
 1904—Edmund K. Arnold '04, 77 Sumter St.
 1905—Charles L. Robinson, 49 Appian Way, W. Barrington, R. I.
 1906—William A. Kennedy, Grinnell Co., 260 West Exchange St.
 1907—Alfred H. Gurney, 14 Young Orchard Ave.
 1908—C. L. Grinnell, Main Rd., Tiverton, R. I.
 1909—Henry S. Chafee, P. O. Box 1342.

1910—Andrew B. Comstock, 15 Beach Park, Buttonwoods, R. I.
 1911—Brenton G. Smith, 211 Butler Ave.
 1912—Earl P. Perkins, 10 Gibson Ave., Nar-ragansett, R. I.
 1913—George T. Metcalf, 68 South Main St.
 1914—Francis W. Post, 65 Orchard St., Crans-ton, R. I.
 1915—Sidney Clifford, 1003 Turks Head Bldg.
 1916—John W. Moore, 378 Auburn St., Crans-ton, R. I.
 1917—Earl M. Pearce, 367 Benefit St.
 1918—Walter Adler, 1006 Hospital Trust Bldg.
 1919—Fred B. Perkins, 1204 Industrial Trust Bldg.
 1920—Fred E. Schoeneweiss, 35 Fosdyke St.
 1921—Alfred Mochau, 123 Oak Tree Ave., Warwick, R. I.
 1922—J. Wilbur Riker, 411 Hospital Trust Bldg.
 1923—Nathaniel B. Chase, 110 Windermere Way, Apponaug, R. I.
 1924—P. A. Lukin, 2nd, Lawrence Fertig & Co., 149 Madison Ave., N.Y.C.
 1925—William C. Waring, Jr., c/o Textron, Inc., 20 Market Square.
 1926—Jacob S. Temkin, 540 Hospital Trust Bldg.
 1927—Irving G. Loxley, 94 Albert Ave., Edge-wood, R. I.
 1928—Earl H. Bradley, 920 County St., See-konk, Mass.
 1929—Edwin C. Harris, 31 Lowden St., Paw-tucket, R. I.
 1930—Edmund J. Farrell, 6 Armistice Blvd., Pawtucket, R. I.
 1931—Clinton N. Williams, 51 So. Angell St.
 1932—Richard A. Hurley, Jr., 80 Don Ave., Rumford, R. I.

1933—Franklin A. Hurd, 5 Meredith Dr., Cranston, R. I.
 1934—Bancroft Littlefield, 1109 Hospital Trust Bldg.
 1935—Alfred H. Joslin, 25 So. Angell St.
 1936—Robert W. Kenyon, 210 Squantum Dr., Gov. Francis Farms, Edgewood 5, R. I.
 1937—Martin L. Tarpy, 6 Pequot Rd., Paw-tucket, R. I.
 1938—Paul W. Welch, 22 Fairway Dr., Bar-ington, R. I.
 1939—Charles W. Gustavesen, Jr., 82 Strah-more Rd.
 1940—Joseph C. Harvey, 116 Greenwich Ave., E. Providence, R. I.
 1941—Dr. Walter V. F. Juszczyk, 11 Bank St., West Warwick, R. I.
 1942—William I. Crooker, Brown University.
 1943—Kingsley N. Meyer, 80 Grotto Ave.
 1944—W. S. Maxwell Montgomery, 26 Linden St., Brookline, Mass.
 1945—Peter Quinn, Jr., 131 Irving Ave.
 1946—Ivory Littlefield, Jr., 8 Cushing St.
 1947—Alan Maynard, General Theological Seminary, 175 9th Ave., N. Y., N. Y.
 1948—James J. Tyrrell, Jr., 12 Stuyvesant Oval, 1-d, New York 9, N. Y.
 1949—Vincent D'Angelo, Manifold Supplies Co., 99 Bedford St., Boston 11, Mass.
 1950—Robert C. Pendleton, 62-60 Woodhaven Blvd., Rigo Park, L. I., N. Y.
 1951—Michael K. Handman, 91 Central Park West, New York 23, N. Y.
 1952—John D. Hutchinson, 41 Randolph Ave., Waterbury, Conn.

NOTE: Unless otherwise indicated, all addresses are in Providence.

